M'Carthy's New Gal

Charlie McCarthy, whose "loves" make radio and screen script, has a new film flame. She's pretty Constance Moore, 19, the lead opposite McCarthy and his spokesman, Edgar Bergen, in "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man." The brunet Texan—who was singing regularly on the radio when Universal signed her a year ago but hasn't warbled since—sees the part as her big chance after a series of inconsequential roles. She thinks she got it because she plagued the producer.

Senate to Support House On WPA Slash

LEADERS SEE NEW SET-BACK FOR PRESIDENT

$150,000,000 Cut In Fund Gets Approval In Lower Chamber by 397-16 Vote.

DEM REVOLT SPREADING

Senators In Economy Bloc Say Curtailed Spending To Win O. K. Next Week.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Democratic insurgency against the administration's relief program spread to the senate today after the rebellious house had lopped $150,000,000 from the appropriation asked by President Roosevelt to finance WPA for the next five months.

Leaders of the senate's economy bloc predicted that the $725,000,000 fund voted by the house would win senate approval, probably late next week, despite the president's request for $875,000,000.

Puts In Politics Ban

The house passed the relief bill last night, 397 to 16, after an informal coalition of Republicans and many Democrats had reduced its amount and incorporated prohibitions against political activities in the WPA.

This first major legislative action in the new congress was interpreted widely as evidence that the election-strengthened Republicans, working with a substantial bloc of Democrats, might curtail other phases of the president's spending program. Leaders awaited signs of the country's reaction, however, before venturing definite predictions.

Mr. Roosevelt had advocated

Ashbrook Votes In Favor of Fund Slash

Congressman William A. Ashbrook of the 17th Ohio district which includes Richland county was among nine Ohio Democratic congressmen who voted in favor of the $150,000,000 slash in WPA funds. Fifteen Republican congressmen from Ohio also favored the reduced fund request.

Winter Perils Squatter Sharecroppers

Hundreds of sharecropper families like the William Joneses, above, face weather perils and diminishing food supplies in their protest encampment along 100 miles of highway stretching from Siketon, Mo., to the Arkansas line. The southeast sharecroppers, most of them colored, marched to the highways in protest against the growing movement in the cotton country to abandon sharecropping in favor of the employment of day laborers.

Missouri state police today took charge of an encampment of nearly 200 homeless families, declaring the squatters would have to leave their roadside encampment, and expected federal or state agencies to offer some haven for them.

Speeds Audit Of Municipal Court Books

Examiner Hurries Check as Judge Prepares to Extend Suspension.

State Examiner Elmer Zook hastened today to complete an audit of the accounts of Allen K. Ports, suspended as clerk of municipal court by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch after "certain irregularities" had reportedly been uncovered in his records.

However, it appeared quite probable today that the audit would not be finished within Ports' six-day suspension period, ordered by the judge to enable a thorough audit to be made.

Judge Kalbfleisch said that if a complete check of the records had not been made at the time Ports' suspension period lapses Monday, that he would order an additional suspension term.

Will Send Audit to State.

Zook, who refused to comment on the alleged "irregularities" said that he was hastening a complete audit of the municipal division which will be presented to the state auditor's office in Columbus as soon as he is finished.

The audit of the municipal court will be independent of the audit now being conducted of other city offices by Zook and will be made public upon its completion by the state auditor's office in Columbus.

Zook's audit will extend through to Jan. 11, the date on which the judge issued his suspension order. The state auditor's office instructed Zook to extend the period of investigation beyond the regular time, which was Nov. 19, after Zook had conferred with his superiors in Columbus.

If findings for recovery are cited in the report, which will be returned to city officials, the state statute makes it mandatory that Judge Kalbfleisch or the city solicitor take the necessary steps to obtain restitution.

City officials said in such an event, they would leave the responsibility of prosecuting the case to Judge Kalbfleisch, since he is the head of the separate and distinct political municipal court sub-division.

The court does not come under the jurisdiction of the city administration, as it was set up by an act of the legislature in 1927 as an independent body.

G.O.P. ECONOMY AX STRIKES IN COUNTY AGAIN

Order Sent to Ashland Division Office Part of State-Wide Job Elimination.

BEIGHTLER CUTS OFF 407

Sees Saving of $60,000 Annually Through Elimination Of 'Unnecessary' Posts.

Just a day after the Republican economy ax struck the liquor department, costing four Mansfielders their jobs, it fell again today, this time eliminating 56 jobs in the Ashland division of the highway department, which includes Mansfield.

The swing of the ax, wielded by State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler, was much wider than that, however. In all, he did away with 407 highway jobs in the state.

No Engineers Fired.

Beightler told The News-Journal today that 52 of the 407 dismissed today were maintenance men. No resident engineers were dismissed, he said, although earlier in the week he had announced that he hoped to eliminate practically all of these positions.

The lay-off order was sent to the Ashland division office, but Murray D. Shaffer, division engineer, could not be reached there shortly before noon, and the names of the men laid off could not be obtained. Beightler said he did not have the names in the Columbus office.

Boyd S. Wierman, Richland county resident engineer, said he had not received any notice of the lay-off and did not know whether it would affect any of the five workers in his office.

Sees $60,000 Saving.

Beightler said nearly 300 workers had been employed in the Ashland division, including about 40 in Richland county. He said all of the jobs eliminated were "unnecessary" and that other workers would not be hired to fill them. He estimated the annual savings at $60,000.

Today's dismissal included 170 workers in the Cincinnati district, 40 in the Chillicothe area, 22 at Lima, 11 at New Philadelphia and eight at Toledo. Eighty-one were discharged yesterday in the Toledo division.

Franco Smashes Path To Vital Coast Town

Insurgents Stage Advance From North and South to Mediterranean Port; Walled City Captured In Push.

(By United Press)

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Border—Nationalist forces smashed their way from both north and south today towards the vital Mediterranean port of Tarragona, behind a heavy artillery barrage and continuing air raids.

With the capture of the walled city of Valls by the Fifth Navarre division, the Nationalists were within 12½ miles of Tarragona and 18½ miles from the important military base of Vendrell, on the Tarragona-Barcelona highway to the north.

The capture of Valls was accomplished after fierce fighting through the mountain pass of Sierra Coculla, between Montblanch and Valls.

In the fighting west of Valls, the Republicans claimed to have destroyed three Italian tanks. The Nationalists captured the town of Montreal in that sector.

Beat Off Counter-Attacks.

In the Estremadura sector far to the west, Barcelona reported that activitiy this morning was confined to beating off counter-attacks of the Nationalists on the Republican heights dominating Penarroya and El Hoyo.

On the Madrid front at Brunete, where the Republicans started a diversion drive to compel the Nationals to send reinforcements from the Navarre front, the Nationalists claimed to have been successful in three successive attacks along the Perales river.

The Nationalists had the entire 570-mile length of the Ebro river within their lines today.

Driving down the Ebro to the sea, the Nationalists closed some 200 square miles of what was called the Tortosa pocket—the area which Italian troops had failed to take when the Nationalists made their drive for the coast last year.

Moslem troops reached the sea at La Amella, north of the mouth of the Ebro river yesterday, and by today the Nationalists had about 25 miles of the Barcelona-Valencia highway north of the river.

It appeared that the Loyalists had withdrawn from the Tortosa pocket without a fight, recognizing that their position was untenable, and that they had succeeded in withdrawing all their troops in safety if not all their material.

9 DIE IN PLANE

RIO DE JANEIRO—(AP)—Five passengers and four crew members of a three-motored seaplane of the Condor line were killed when the plane crashed in flames.

PLANE FALLS IN FLAMES, 4 DEAD

Investigators Check Wreckage To Find Cause of Montana Airliner's Crash.

MILES CITY, Mont.—The blackened wreckage of a Northwest Airline plane still held today the body of one of its four victims when investigators arrived to seek clues to the cause of the plane's flaming crash two miles west of Miles City last night.

Coroner Ralph H. Bray of Custer county said the body of Mrs. Morgan Morris of Mandan, N. D., was so horribly burned it was not removed when the bodies of the other victims, all men, were taken out last night.

The St. Paul-to-Seattle plane burst into flames and crashed in a coulee in the Sunday Creek bottomlands a mile west of the Miles City airport just after its takeoff.

L. H. Bliven, airport manager, and several Miles City residents reported the explosion flashed a bright light across an overcast sky.

The three men victims were:

Pilot C. B. (Cash) Chamberlain of Minneapolis, a pioneering pilot trained by the late Frank Hawks. He had flown the first ship for Universal Air lines between Chicago and Cleveland in 1928.

Co-Pilot Raymond B. Norby of Minneapolis, who had flown for Northwest since 1936.

Richard S. Zahniser, about 52, connected with the Consolidated Motor Freight service of Billings, Mont.

BRANDEIS PROGRESSES

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Brandeis, ill with the grippe, was reported today to be "doing very well." He is 82.

Squatters Facing New Troubles As Police Stand By

SIKESTON, Mo. —(U.P.)— State highway patrolmen took charge today of an encampment of more than 200 homeless families camping in the ditches of two federal highways near here.

B. Marvin Casteel, patrol superintendent said the squatters would have to go, but he did not know where. He expected that federal and state welfare agencies would offer some haven for them.

He was accompainied here for an inspection by Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Means of the national guard, and state health commissioner Harry F. Parker.

KILLED BY AUTO

Unidentified Man, About 65, Meets Death in Crestline.

CRESTLINE—An unidentified man, believed to be about 65, was instantly killed when struck by a car driven by M. J. Long, of North Pearl street, Crestline, on route 30N at the city limits early Friday evening.

Coroner O. A. Kackley of Galion said death was due to internal injuries. Long was exonerated after questioning.

The driver told Marshall R. L. Mick that the transient was walking in the center of the snow-covered road and he did not see him until he was only a few feet away. There were no identifications on the man's clothing.

Mick forwarded fingerprints of the man to Washington in an attempt to determine his identity. The body was removed to the Elmer Smith funeral home.

CITY DIGS OUT OF HEAVIEST SNOW

5 And 1-2 Inch Blanket Snarls Traffic; Storm Extends To Seaboard.

Mansfield dug out of five and a half inches of snow today, the heaviest fall of the season, and faced the prospect of more by Sunday. Four deaths in Ohio were attributed to the storm.

Traffic was tangled in the city as street department employes worked to clear the streets of drifts which piled up during a blizzard that continued all day yesterday.

Snow plows manned by state highway and county road department workers traveled main routes during the night, and today all major roads were reported open although most of them were slippery.

The storm, which reached eastward to the Atlantic coast today, left snow and colder weather over most of the middle west. Ohio was in the center of the storm area, and snowfall at Sandusky measured eight inches. Drifts four feet high halted traffic in the vicinity of Sandusky Bay bridge, reports said.

Cold weather followed in the wake of the storm, dropping the mercury to 18 degrees above zero in Mansfield early today.

More snow and colder weather was forecast for the state tonight and Sunday. The fall, however, was expected to be light, and there was no indication of severe cold.

Ohio buses into Mansfield were from 10 to 15 minutes late, and transcontinental buses from the east were nearly an hour late, with drivers reporting icy conditions in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

SORGEN ROBBED

Bandit With Long Revolver Gets $15, Then Flees.

Police today were searching for an ex-convict who was believed to have been the gunman who held up and robbed Edward Sorgen, one-time "faith healer", of $15 in his office at 316 Cline avenue, yesterday afternoon and then fled with a companion in a large sedan.

The description of the bandit given them by Sorgen led police to believe that the man was an ex-convict in Ohio penitentiary.

Officers said they were told by Sorgen that the man walked into his office carrying a long barreled revolver. He said the bandit ordered him to "put 'em up" and then took $15 in bills from his pocket.

Without making any further demands, the man fled to the car with an accomplice driving east toward Lexington avenue, he said.

SHIP HIT AGAIN

British Freighter Struck by Bombs In Spanish Waters.

BARCELONA —(AP)— The 6,000-ton British freighter Stanwell, on which workmen had just completed repairs made necessary by a previous bombardment, was struck again today by two bombs dropped by a squadron of five insurgent raiders.

Authorities said there were no victims.

MAIL DESTROYED

110 Pouches Burn As Railroad Car Burns Near Kenton.

KENTON —(AP)— A big four railroad car and 110 sacks of mail and nine express were destroyed by fire while en route here from Toledo today.

The mail was consigned to Springfield, Urbana and Bellefontaine. No estimate of the loss was available immediately.

ALL 'NONSENSE'

Nazis Deny Schmeling Jailed For Goebbels Threat.

BERLIN —(U.P.)— A propaganda minister spokesman described as "complete nonsense" today a report published by the New York Daily News that Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxer, and Anny Ondra, his actress wife, were under "protective arrest" in Berlin.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The Daily News said today in a copyright dispatch under a Paris date, that Max Schmeling and his wife, Anny Ondra, were under "technical arrest" in Berlin because of a remark Schmeling made about Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels.

The News said that Schmeling and friends were discussing the rumor that Goebbels had been beaten by friends of the Actor Gustav Froelich and that Schmeling remarked: "It's a lucky thing for Dr. Goebbels that he never tried to play with Anny, because I would have broken his neck."

SHOT KILLS TWO

Kentucky Police Chief, Miner Die In Exchange of Shots.

HARLAN, Ky. —(AP)— John D. Gilliam, 40, night chief of police at Cumberland, and Marvin Shepherd, a miner, were shot to death last night and Sheriff Herbert Caywood said today the men killed each other. Each was shot three times.

Caywood said the shooting occurred in a restaurant at Cumberland, 22 miles east of here.

JOCKEY RAY KILLED

LOS ANGELES —(INS)— Willie Ray, 19-year-old west coast jockey, was fatally injured today when his automobile hurdled a culvert and overturned, police reported. Ray was well known in turf circles throughout the country.

CLOSES DEAL

Bromfield Signs Papers, Now He Owns 'Dream Farm.'

Negotiations were closed today in which Louis Bromfield acquired his "dream farm" and became a Richland county farmer with cows, horses, chickens, tractors and everything that goes to make a "dirt farmer."

Bromfield signed the papers this noon which made him the owner of 385 acres of land in Monroe township, three houses, ten cows, two horses and all of the equipment. He plans to move his family to The Farm the latter part of February, or as soon as one of the houses is ready for them.

The new Bromfield farm was purchased from C. M. Herring and Frederick Beck, and lies in Pleasant Valley, which is approximately five miles beyond Little Washington.

JEWS STRANDED

300 From Germany, Italy Hear Paraguay Cancels Permits.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay—(U.P.)—Three hundred Jews from Germany and Italy were stranded here today, unable to proceed to Paraguay, where they had intended to settle.

The immigrants landed here from the liner Conte Grande. While they were en route, the Paraguayan government cancelled all landing permits.

EXPENSIVE BABY

Proud Father Celebrates, Cigar Ashes Burn Up $200.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—It cost Samuel Haerr $200 to celebrate an addition to his family—exclusive of hospital or doctor bills.

Haerr returned home and proudly lighted a cigar. Dropping ashes ignited a chair in the seat of which were hidden two $100 bills. They were burned.

English Actress Signs For Role Of Scarlett O'Hara

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Vivien Leigh, the young English actress, who will play the part of the southern lass, Scarlett O'Hara, in the screen dramatization of "Gone With The Wind," was "terribly nervous" today, but at the same time "grateful beyond words."

She was signed to the role last night for which a host of actresses and socialites have been mentioned. Today she still was a little bewildered, but full of determination to make a success of the most-discussed feminine part in motion pictures in years.

Miss Leigh, who pronounces it Lee, confided that she had looked forward to sitting in an audience and watch "Gone With The Wind" on the screen.

Producer David O. Selznick, announcing the choice, said he had kept his original promise "to cast a girl who was not identified in the minds of the public with other roles, and who was a physical counterpart of the original Scarlett."

Clark Gable will be Rhett Butler, with whom Scarlett constantly clashes, Leslie Howard will be Ashley Wilkes, her first great love, and Olivia deHavilland will play Melanie.

NEEDY GET GIFT

War Vets To Benefit By $18,000 Forgotten War Days Fund.

STEUBENVILLE—(AP)—Jefferson county needy war veterans and their families today received news that they would benefit from the income on $18,720, a "forgotten" fund that grew from $7,567 collected during 1919 for Y. M. C. A. work overseas.

Common Pleas Judge Clifford Belt decided on disposition of the money at the request of a loan company which acted as depository for the unused cash.

'Blondie' Joins News-Journal Comics Monday--New Serial Starts Tuesday

"BLONDIE," the hilariously funny comic strip based on young married life, will make its Mansfield bow, Monday in The News-Journal and will be a regular member of the paper's large family of daily features.

There probably is no more popular comic strip today than "Blondie," whose tinkering husband, Dagwood Bumpstead, and her Baby Dumpling, are followed by millions of readers daily.

The strip was created by Chic Young, who began his cartoon career in Cleveland, where he specialized in drawing the younger element of society.

He went from Cleveland to New York City, where he started a strip called "Beautiful Bab." Later he created the tremendously popular "Dumb Dora." That placed him definitely as one of the top bracket cartoonists in America.

In creating the amazingly popular "Blondie," he decided to picture an average girl of this age, the kind who leads the complete return to femininity—a reaction from sport clothes and boyish figures and flapperism in general.

WHEN a girl makes up her mind that there is only one man in the world for her—she is usually married to someone else within a few years. But the heroine of Margaret Gorman Nichols new newspaper serial, "There Is Only One," not only knew her own heart, but waited until the man knew his.

The new serial, the opening chapters of which appear in Tuesday's News-Journal, is a penetrating but withall, light and gay picture of today's young people.

A modern Juliet, quiet and graceful, is Alix Barton, who meets her Romeo at a party given by a man who has his own ideas as to her future.

Alix is a private secretary with enough charm that she needn't worry about her future—but she does, because the "only one" is in love with another girl.

Parading through the story are many interesting characters—including Kurt Deering, brilliant architect, the flirtatious Don Lawrence and his daughter, Nancy, and the heroine's brother, Tod, who is down and out until a pretty girl runs him down with her car, which brings a change in his fortunes.

TWO ESCAPE IN ASHLAND TRAIN, AUTO COLLISION

Mother And Son Slightly Hurt As Engine Strikes Car At Rural Crossing.

ASHLAND — Slight injuries were sustained by Mrs. Alice Shick, 65 and her son Paul, 39, when their automobile was struck by an eastbound Erie freight train east of Ashland late Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Shick and her son had been to Ashland, and were returning to Sullivan, their home, and were on a sideroad east of route 58 at the time of the accident.

Try to Back Car.

They had driven their car onto the railroad tracks, when they saw the train coming, and they attempted to back away. They did not make it in time, the train smashing into the engine of the car, hurling it into a nearby swamp.

The couple in the car was able to crawl out of the wreckage and walk to the nearest house, where they received medical attention.

In another late afternoon accident, Mrs. Lula Egenhofer, 72, of Cleveland sustained bad head cuts when the car in which she was riding on route 42 northeast of Ashland skidded into a ditch.

A local doctor took six stitches in her head and she was allowed to proceed with the party she was with, none of whom had been injured.

HONORS CRESTLINE GUEST WITH PARTY; OTHER SOCIETY EVENTS

CRESTLINE—Mrs. Clarence J. Strauch entertained a group of friends Thursday evening in honor of Miss Mary Elizabeth Eddy of Granville. A color scheme of green and white was used in the table decorations for a dinner served at the Blue Lantern at 7 o'clock.

Following the dinner the group went to the Strauch home on Pearl street where three tables of bridge and one of Chinese checkers were in play. Prizes won by Misses Minerva Morton, Mildred Fate in bridge and by Miss Cora Cover in checkers were presented to the honoree. Miss Eddy was also presented a shower of miscellaneous gifts by the group. These gifts were attached to a sprinkling can suspended from the chandelier over the dining table.

Another feature of the party was moving pictures in technicolor shown by Miss Eddy, and taken by her on her trip to Europe the past year.

Miss Eddy was a former teacher of physical education in the local high school, and those attending the party were mostly her former associates.

Her marriage to L. Farrell Crabtree of Milwaukee, Wis., will be an event of Saturday, Jan. 28 at the Granville Baptist church.

Out of town guests attending the party in addition to the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Clarence Eddy of Granville, Mrs. Pearl Thrush of Mansfield and Miss Evelyn Winemiller of Bucyrus.

M. Y. club members were welcomed by Mrs. A. D. Miller, Thursday evening. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. A. C. Kindinger, Mrs. R. P. Sagar for the club and Miss Christine Miller was given a guest gift. Mrs. W. C. Marquart will be the club's next hostess.

* * *

Mrs. Frank Buck and Mrs. A. C. Smith won score gifts in games of pinochle played by the K. O. club Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. F. E. Speelman.

* * *

Mrs. M. C. Davis and Mrs. J. C. Granger were guests present when Mrs. A. A. Remy entertained the Friendship club Thursday evening. Prizes in rook were awarded to Mrs. Samuel Morkel, Mrs. F. W. Beck and Mrs. Granger.

A Farmer's Diary

Before Breakfast.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON THESE cold mornings, when the mercury drops, I light the lamp and hurry into my clothes. It is my morning task to make the fire in both our stoves. The circulating heater in the living room holds fire well, but when a blizzard starts, and the winds go howling unobstructed across the open spaces, the fuel burns up quickly, and I am literally left in the cold.

By the old woodbox, I keep an ample supply of dry, finely split kindling, and paper, that will start quickly. Then from the rank upon the porch, I bring an armful and place the coarser wood upon the burning kindling. In a very short while, I have a roaring fire. Its radiant warmth drives chilly winter from the room, and reddens the top and sides of the squatty little stove to a cherry glow.

After priming the kitchen pump—we run it down at night as a safety measure—I fill the teakettle and set it on the fire. I adjust the checking damper, so it will not burn too fast then call my wife. I put on my heavy coat and cap and go outside.

My breath hangs white in the sharp, blue air. The pleasant odor of wood smoke is in my nostrils, and I watch the wild swirls rise above the chimney top. The early dawn is breaking. The eastern sky is growing light, yet the stars still twinkle up above. I see the warm lights shining from my neighbors' windows. The rooster's early, muffled crow sounds from his well-protected shelter. The hogs are squealing discontentedly for food. The horses are whinnering for their breakfast.

In the growing light, the fields lie beneath a heavy crust of snow, with hills and valleys almost blotted out. Up near the border of the woods, I hear the bewildered, hungry call of a lonely quail, and know some tragedy has overtaken the sleeping bevy.

When I return, I find the teakettle singing, the kitchen filled with the savory odor of brewing coffee, and a skillet of mush browning and sizzling upon the good humored old wood stove. I wash my face and hands in cold water at the sink, and sit contentedly beside the fire, until the rest are ready for breakfast.

Two Couples Receive at Musicale Tea

Although they were busy greeting fellow members and guests of the Music Study club last Sunday afternoon in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel, (left to right) Mr. and Mrs. Paul Watts, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Frank, who served as hosts for the club's musicale and tea, paused long enough to let the photographer snap them as they chatted on the hotel mezzanine floor about the program which was to be presented by artists of the Ashland Musical club.

SCHEDULED MEETINGS FILL CLUB CALENDAR

Interests of Many Turn to Outdoor Sports; Coming Events Will Feature Guest Speakers, Luncheons, Programs.

By FRANCES E. GENSLEY

THIS winter weather is likely to bring out bobsleds and ice skates in the next few days to replace the bridge cards and Chinese checker boards, and only the ardent opposers of winter sports will be able to stick to the card table and the fireside with all their friends beckoning them to the country club hills and the Mifflin lakes for fun and frolic.

However club meetings are scheduled, and club meetings will go on no matter how the weather chooses to behave or misbehave This third week of January is no exception with a myriad of exciting plans already made for the days to come. Study clubs, social groups and church organizations will be busy as will several patriotic groups.

Looking Over the Week's Calendar.

So once again Saturday has rolled around, and it is time for us to give our attention to the calendar and see what is coming up for you, and you, and you to do during the next seven days.

* * *

Monday.

Monday, though generally considered in the society and club world as a light day, has turned cheerfully busy, and is offering a number of events to interest the club woman. When members of the Round Table club, one of the city's most active study groups, meet at the home of Mrs. R. G. Averill, Carpenter road, dessert-luncheon will be served to the members before Mrs. Harry C. Finefrock and Mrs. Phillip Wolfe present papers.

The very recently organized alumnae chapter of Chi Omega will gather at the home of Miss Mary Jean McCormick on Stewart avenue, for a business meeting, and to discuss plans for the group. For the first time in six weeks friends in the St. Peter's guild will join each other at luncheon at the Women's club. Mrs. Stanley Schiller will be the hostess.

Besides these groups already mentioned business girls who attend the Christian church will have a covered-dish dinner at the church, the Central M. E. guild will be entertained by Mrs. R. W. Jones. In the evening the Sarah Pfeifer auxiliary and the Sons of Union Veterans will have a joint installation service, while the Ruth chapter, O. E. S. has a party at the temple. Both the consumer purchasing group of A. A. U. W. and the Daughters of Ruth from St. Luke's church have set meetings for Monday. Mrs. N. S. White will hostess the former group, while the class teacher, Mrs. Irene Hines, entertains her students in the latter organization.

* * *

Tuesday.

"Who ever heard of a garden club meeting in the winter," you ask? "Why nearly every flower lover," we reply. For really, you just don't get around at all if you don't know that the seed catalogues (chock full of the most gorgeous photographs you ever saw) are being mailed out right now to prospective planters of radishes and rose bushes. So that explains (we hope) why members of the Linnaeus Garden club will gather Tuesday at the home of Mrs. R. J. Hammer on Dickson parkway.

However, if you still can't quite bring yourself to think of sweet violets in the midst of a snow storm, we're sure you'll be interested in some other club sessions. For instance three of the Mansfield social and philanthropic sororities will meet. Chi Sigma and Alpha Pi Sigma at the hotel, and Beta Sigma Phi with Miss Dorothea Grimes on Marion avenue.

Two study clubs—Tourists and the Fortnight club—will be entertained by Mrs. A. E. Merkel, 163 Bartley avenue, and Miss Florence Sloane, Church court, respectively.

Mrs. M. G. Nicola will receive members of the Tuesday Book club at her home when they assemble to hear a review of "Wisdom's Gate." Mrs. Joseph Kuebler, West Second street, will open her home to members of the Notre Dame Study club for the session at which Mrs. Glen Macy will give a book review.

There will also be meetings of the C. L. of C. at the Bird building when they install officers, the drama and the novel groups of the A. A. U. W. and several patriotic orders, lodges, and social organizations.

* * *

Wednesday.

Already we're to Wednesday, and there are so many things to do today that the minutes will just whizz by. The regular monthly meeting of the Teachers Wives club will be of particular interest because E. J. Wessen, collector and antique expert, will talk about some of his interesting hobbies. The meeting will be held out at the home of Mrs. W. B. Huber on Cook road. She will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Scoles, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. E. N. Cooper, Mrs. Nelson Neff, Mrs. Lawrence Frank and Mrs. Dean Rex.

The same evening Mrs. Robert Hall, Wood street, will be hostess to the members of Junior Sorosis. The girls, who have been presenting some very educational programs the past few weeks, will just relax and listen to Miss Katherine Hartman who will talk about books to the group.

Excitement is running high in Moose circles these days as the women of the Moose are getting ready for public initiation Wednesday evening at the home. The officers, guards, and other officials will be wearing white satin formals for the affair, and they will conduct the ritual according to a new form never before used here.

The greatest honor of the evening will be the visit of Mrs. Mary Wallace, Cincinnati, second grand ritualist of the order. The class of 10 candidates to be initiated will be named in Mrs. Wallace's honor, and a reception will be held between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. at the Towne House, preceding a dinner at 6 p. m. at the same place.

Both the Nomad club and the E. L. K. Sewing circle will meet at the Women's Club. The first group will be entertained by Mrs. Roeliff Brinkerhoff, while Mrs. L. J. Schubert will be luncheon hostess to the circle. A number of other clubs and organizations are also planning meetings for Wednesday.

* * *

Thursday.

A great many church organizations are arranging meetings for this Thursday. Mrs. O. G. Place, Glenwood boulevard, will be hostess to Circle Three of First M. E. church, and Circle Five will meet with Mrs. Charles Benedict, 129 Carpenter road. The Women's guild of the First Presbyterian church will also meet in the church parlors.

Miss Marie Kalbfleisch will entertain the Joan of Arc Study club at her home on West Fourth street, and a group from St. Paul church will meet at the church in the evening. Both Circles Four and Six will meet with Mrs. Guy Lautsbaugh and Mrs. Harold Mansfield respectively. Mrs. E. G. Corwin, West Second street, will entertain Circle Two.

Cards and games will be the diversion of several smaller clubs when they meet for the social affairs. Dancing in the Masonic temple club rooms will be enjoyed by members of the Mystic club and their ladies the same evening.

* * *

Friday.

Only a few affairs are planned for Friday and among them are the session of the We-Ate club with Miss Dorothy Selby, the meeting of the Lo and Le club with Miss Helen Louise Casey, and the Viewre club meeting with Mrs. G. W. Weller.

Some of the other meetings are the Triple E. Circle with Mrs. J. W. Gilkison, the Gleaners class with Mrs. Fred Harbaugh, the Jolly Times club hostessed by Mrs. Joseph Stone, the L'Allegro club which will meet with Mrs. I. C. Baker, the Neighborhood Bible club with Miss Dora Reman and the Past Councilors association at Eagle hall.

* * *

Saturday.

Saturday will be a quiet day with the only large affair scheduled being the meeting of the Auxiliary to the Railway Mail association at Schwarz's tavern. Hostesses will be Mrs. E. G. Giffin, Mrs. E. W. Dye, Mrs. W. F. Marshall, Mrs. L. E. McMichael, Mrs. C. V. King. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buckmaster will entertain the Puenta club members at their home on Sheridan avenue.

Mrs. Herrick Entertains With Supper Party

The departure of a young matron for another city was the reason for the buffet supper party given last Monday night by Mrs. Earl Herrick at her home on West Park drive. Mrs. Charles Campbell, who is leaving to join her husband at Madison, Wis., was the honoree. The girls in the above picture (reading left to right) are: Mrs. Herrick, Mrs. Campbell, Miss Betty Hout, Miss Sarabell Kramer, Miss Catherine Young, Miss Marie Ellen Campbell, Lexington, and Miss Martha Wiles.

Tell Marriage Of Couple at Friday Party

Miss Esther Spicer Bride of Paul Carr Last Day of December.

THE December wedding of Miss Esther Spicer and Paul Carr was announced yesterday evening when Mrs. Richard Farrell gave a shower at the bride's home, rear 176 South Adams street. The couple was married on Dec. 31, 1938 in a quiet ceremony at St. Paul's Lutheran church by Rev. Herman Gilbert.

Mrs. Carr is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Spicer, of the Adams street address, and Mr. Carr is the son of Mrs. Irene Carr, Mt. Vernon. The bride was graduated from Mansfield Senior High school and has been employed at the North American Knitting company. Mr. Carr is a graduate of Gambier High school. He attended Miami university, and is now employed in Cleveland.

The marriage was revealed to friends last night when they put a jigsaw puzzle together which bore the names of the couple and their wedding date. Card games and contests were played during the remainder of the evening with prizes going to the honoree and Miss Margaret Bush. A buffet luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

Reviews Book at Study Club Meet

"All This and Heaven Too," Rachel Field's latest novel, was reviewed by Mrs. A. D. McKenzie for members of the Cosmopolitan club yesterday during their meeting at the Women's Club. Mrs. F. L. Hanson was hostess for the affair.

Miss Florence Gernhardt told the club members of her trip to Germany and through all of Europe last summer. She also exhibited many things which she brought back to the United States with her, including several pieces of Dresden china.

Mrs. W. B. Ford, Wellington avenue, will be the hostess for a tea which the club is planning on Jan. 27. Mrs. D. P Smith, Mrs. W. T. Marquis, and Mrs. H. H. Shaw will serve as associate hostesses at that time.

Lady Owls Install Officers at Home

Officers of the Lady Owls were installed last night at the lodge meeting which was held in the club rooms of the Owl home on Main street. Mrs. May Bookman will be the past president, and Mrs. Christian Whyte assumed the duties of president.

Other officers are Mrs. Lottie Thornton, vice-president; Mrs Elizabeth Konves, secretary; Mrs Matilda Wenning, treasurer; Mrs Alta Kurtz, invocator; Mrs. Mary Cassad, picket; Mrs. Jennie Fisher, sentinel, and Miss Laura Smith, warden.

The trustees of the lodge are Mrs. Thornton and Mrs Bookman. Following the service the members played cards, and luncheon was served. The next meeting will be Jan. 27.

Junior Music Group Has Meeting at Grau Home

When the Little Mozarts met last evening at the home of Marcella Grau, 53 Atcheson avenue, Hazel Hockett reviewed a chapter from the club's study book, "Childhood Musicians." Bettie Gibson gave a paper based on the stories of several favorite hymns.

During the musical portion of the program, Marjorie Huber, Janet Ackerman, and Margaret VanTilburg played piano solos. The club members answered the roll call by naming their favorite hymns.

Phylis Smith will have the next meeting of the group at her home, 825 Park avenue west, on Feb. 10 at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Wallace Moose Guest

Mansfield Lodge Women Will Initiate Class Wednesday.

Wednesday night when the Women of the Moose conduct a public initiation ceremony for 10 candidates, Mrs. Mary Wallace, right, will be the guest of honor. Mrs. Wallace, who is the second grand ritualist, will come to Mansfield from her home in Cincinnati to observe the new ritualistic work to be performed by Mrs. Regina Gresser, senior regent, and her corps of officers.

Earl McFarland will be the guest speaker, and a group of women of the lodge will present the playlet, "An Afternoon at Bridge" as part of the program. During the afternoon Mrs. Wallace will be entertained at a reception at the Towne House between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, and a dinner will follow at 6 p. m.

Mrs. Margaret Ritchie, membership chairman, is in charge of the arrangements for the inducting of the candidates.

COUPLE MARRIED IN SIMPLE CEREMONY

Miss Ruth Ann Saeman Becomes Bride of John N. Martin at First English Lutheran Church Early This Afternoon.

SOLEMNITY and simplicity marked the marriage of Miss Ruth Ann Saeman to John N. Martin early this afternoon at the First English Lutheran church when Rev. Grover E. Swoyer read the ceremony before the palm banked altar. Mrs. Clayson D. Bell, organist, played appropriate nuptial selections preceding and during the ceremony.

In addition to the wedding marches she played "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Indian Love Call," "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

The bride, whose mother is Mrs. Minnie Saeman and who came to Mansfield from Philadelphia, Pa., made her home at 271 Park avenue east. She was attended by Mrs. T. A. Harnagel, sister of the bride and matron of honor, who wore a dress of old rose crepe with a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Miss Saeman wore a dress of royal blue crepe with a corsage of gardenias. The bride wore yellow gold jewelry with her afternoon frock.

Glenn L. Mochel served as best man, and Jesse Willard and Ray Gerhart were the ushers.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was given at the home of the bride's sister on Park avenue east. A color scheme of pink, yellow and white was used by Mrs. Harnagel for serving of the supper to members of both families and friends of the couple. Following the supper Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for a short wedding trip to Cleveland. Upon their return to Mansfield they will be at home at 156 West Third street. Mrs. Martin wore a tailored costume for traveling.

Both Mrs. Joseph Masni, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Saeman wore black gowns, and corsages of roses and sweet peas for the ceremony.

The former Miss Saeman, who received her education in Philadelphia, was employed at the Dominion Electric company. Mr. Martin, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Masni, 232 East Third street, attended the Ohio Business college, and is now an employe of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Spear and family of Dover, and William and Beulah Shoemaker of Ashland. Mrs. Spear is a sister of the bride's.

GOLD-LINED HOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Ann Sheridan attached a nunlike hood lined in dazzling gold lame to the slim back crepe dress she wore when she went dancing at the Trocadero with Allan Lane.

Sly Meetings Upset Youth

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm a boy of 19, and for five months I've been seeing a girl who is just a few months younger than I am. We're in love, but as her parents don't approve of me, we meet on the sly, which I just hate. I am employed in a movie house just around the corner from where she lives, and her folks come to the show. Her kid brother pointed me out to his parents, and they think I'm lots older than I really am. And they forbid her to see me. I'd much rather go to her house, meet her folks, and get it over with, whether they throw me out or not. What do you think of such a situation? P. R.

Your attitude about becoming acquainted with the girl's parents at her home is very much in your favor. And if her parents are sensible, they'll let you call on her there, instead of sneaking around street corners and meeting on the sly.

If young people are allowed to see each other under the parental roof, they are much more likely to fall in love and fall out again than when so much effort is made to keep them apart. However, I'd advise you to be patient. And my advice to the girl's parents is not to hurry youthful marriages by raising barriers between young people who are probably only temporarily interested in each other. If they're left alone, they're very likly to change their affection to somone else in six months' time.

Convenient placing of cooking supplies and utensils in the kitchen will do much to lighten the work of preparing the family meal. Utensils needed for cooking should be placed near the stove. If it is possible, the china cupboard should be located near the sink so that dishes may be put away quickly once they are washed.

A small piece of apple cooked in a meat pie or stew will make the meat tender.

Maple sugar mixed with equal portions of chopped nuts makes a good topping for tiny biscuits to be served for tea. As soon as they are baked the biscuits should be spread with butter and served hot.

Roasts, steaks, chops and most other cuts of meat except stewing and soup meats should be cooked quickly for several minutes to sear the outsides. Searing keeps in the juices of the meat.

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"You—want—me—to—dance—for—Noel?"

"Why! yes," I returned, masking my surprise, "the dance ought to be practiced every day—"

"Yea, verily, more than that," she interposed. "My muscles are a bit stiff, I'm afraid."

I suppressed a smile with difficuty, for anything more mobile than the play of Mary's muscles would be hard to find.

"Of that, of course, you are the best judge," I told her demurely. "All I know is that you're supposed never to let up on a dance routine, and I thought perhaps you would rather dance than go over those tiresome lines again just now."

"I would," she returned promptly, "but—can't I do both? And—I must contradict you, even though it's ill-bred. They're not tiresome lines. Look at the lady who wrote 'em!"

She flourished her hand toward me, and I flushed at the affectionate jibe.

"Thanks very much," I told her, "but, even at the risk of rebuffing the compliment, I can't permit you to overtrain. You can't do both, as you suggest. And, as the dance needs practicing, and also, as I think Noel deserves a reward for the way he has accepted this drill, I think I'll let my decision as to the dance stand, unless, indeed, you have some objection to doing it."

"Oh! no," she said finally. "Why should I have any objection? It really doesn't matter. I'll do the dance, of course, if you say so."

I wondered if I imagined that she had a faint hope that I would change my mind. But even if my imagination were justified, I felt that I must find out what was behind her hesitancy, whether a fear of Noel's reaction to the dance, of some other reason.

"It really isn't my say-so, Mary," I told her, "but yours—and Noel's. I thought perhaps he'd rather see you dance than hear you rehearse single lines over and over—a most uninteresting performance."

"I know," she said, "but I had sort of planned to park him with a newspaper or a maginze while I went through my lines. It would be a sort of come-down for him to listen to me going over and over those lines after watching the complete rehearsal."

A come-down, indeed, I agreed mentally, remembering the gripping, thrilling performance which Mary's husband, her uncle and I had witnessed.

"That's one reason I thought I'd have him see you dance, instead," I said quietly, and stopped upon the word, apparently in aimless, casual fashion, but in reality keenly watching Mary's reaction.

But she was non-committal, whether purposely or accidentally I could not tell.

"He might enjoy it,' she said. "One never can tell what a man is going to like."

"If you're going to dance in this period we set aside for rehearsal, I suppose you'd better dress."

"Or undress," she countered with an impish smile at me. "I'll dash back to my room at once. Will you come back with me into the living room, and hold Noel's hand, or head, when I appear? I have a hunch he'll need support."

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Jan. 15.

Sunday's horoscope holds testimonies of a very active, exciting and stirring day, with much activity in religious, social, intellectual and romantic affiliations. In fact, some of these will be keyed to high tension, and may spell much progress, advancement, and personal gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an extremely energetic and eventful year, with progress, prosperity and particular favors or preferment from superiors. This should enhance the fortune, position and popularity.

A child born on this day may be active, energetic and ambitious, its fine ability and enterprise winning for it place and position, as well as good fortune in life.

For Monday, Jan. 16.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a very definite stabilization of the fortunes as well as a gratifying advance in social, cultural or domestic associations. The first may be a reward of merit or through the trust of an elderly person or institution. The latter may be enhanced by sentimental or romantic adventures, or fulfilled aspirations of a lofty personal nature.

Those whose birthady it is may be assured of a year of many fulfilled aspirations. High hopes and wishes of a personal, occupational or business character may be attained. This may be the reward for work well done, diligence or gracious behavior. It might be a gain through wills, trusts or sound investments. Romance also adds to the years happiness and satisfaction.

A child born on this day may be serious and industrious, with much to assure its success and good fortune. Elders are attracted to its sound qualities, and romance adds glamor to a happy and worthy career.

Tricks For Tasty Meals

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

THESE WILL taste fine in 1939! That's our motto for this collection of kitchen miscellany.

First off we want to say that the grapefruit you like so much to start off your meal has been subjected to the scrutiny of scientists. And now we learn that the grapefruit is not only the freshest tasting fruit, but it has real value as a mouthwash! No wonder it leaves your teeth shiny and your tongue a-tingle!

How about serving different dishes for breakfast right through the year? Bananas and bacon comprise a dish that will make a good starter. Just peel firm, all yellow bananas and cut in halves, crosswise. Wrap each half in a strip of bacon and fasten with a toothpick. Bake in 450 F. oven until bananas are tender and bacon is crisp. Turn and baste a couple of times during cooking. Then serve the family maple rolls supreme and sit back for compliments.

Maple Roll Recipe.

This is a swell recipe for maple rolls for it entails no "settin' of bread" and no overnight preparations. Get together two cups flour, one-third teaspoon salt, two teaspoons phosphate baking powder, three teaspoons butter, one egg, two-thirds cup milk, three-quarters cup maple sugar or three-quarters brown sugar and one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder; work in butter, mix to soft dough with milk and egg. Roll half an inch thick on floured board, sprinkle with maple sugar or brown sugar and cinnamon, and roll into long roll. Press edges closely together and cut into three-quarters-inch slices with a sharp knife and lay cut side down in greased pan. Bake in 450 F. oven for about 20 minutes.

If you're a mind to serve a steamed or baked pudding, here's a swell hard sauce with which to dress it up. Cream two tablespoons butter and beat in one and one-half cups confectioners sugar. Add two tablespoons cream gradually as mixture stiffens. Beat in one-half teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup chopped dates and one-eighth teaspoon salt.

Steamed Pudding.

Incidentally, how about a swell steamed pudding, luscious as any holiday pudding, rich in fruit and full of health? Well, "full steam ahead" with a pudding made with one-quarter cup butter, two-thirds cup honey, one egg, one-half cup milk, one-half cup all-bran, one cup flour, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt and one cup raisins. Cream butter and honey together. Add well-beaten egg, milk and all-bran. Sift flour, soda and salt together and mix with raisins. Add to first mixture. Combine thoroughly. Fill greased pudding mold two-thirds full, cover tightly and steam for two hours. Serve with aforementioned hard sauce.

Had a taffy pull lately? Pulling taffy may be hard on the kitchen but it remains a child's idea of fun. Your young hopefuls will enjoy tugging at this easy-to-make and wholesome taffy, just see! Put two cups sugar, one-half cup light corn syrup and three-quarters cup water in a saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring to 268 F. (hard ball stage). Remove from stove and stir in teaspoon vanilla. Pour onto greased platter and allow to cool until it begins to stiffen. Form into ball with spatula, pull between thumbs and finger tips until light colored, then stretch and twist into rope one inch thick. Cut into pieces with scissors.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LOCATE THE LENGTH

When you show your strength with a jump to 2-No trump over your partner's suit bid, you tell him about the power of your high cards, but that is only one of the things he would like to know.

He would appreciate learning if you have appreciable length in any one suit, especially if it is a major. By bidding such a suit, and then making a jump rebid if it contains at least five cards, you can tell him about both your strength and your suit length.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

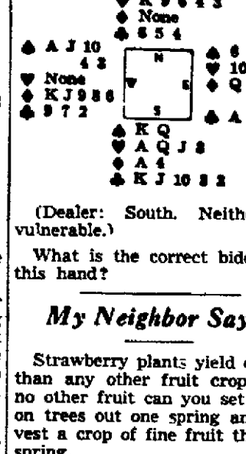

At both tables of a team of four game, South opened the bidding of this deal with 1-Diamond. But there the resemblance ceased. One North player answered with 2-No trump. South bid 3-Clubs, North 3-No trump, and there it rested. East led the spade 5, and the contract was doomed. The declarer could not fail to lose five tricks, no matter how he played.

At the other table North responded to South's 1-Diamond with 1-Heart. After South bid 2-Clubs, he rebid at 3-Hearts, which South lifted to game. This contract was made, plus two overtricks.

Against the heart game, East led his spade 5, North winning. He then ruffed a spade with the heart 6, took in the club A, ruffed another spade with the heart Q, cashed the heart K, re-entered his hand with the diamond K, then led the heart J. When the heart A took that, it was the only trick the defenders got. East's spade return was ruffed, another trump laid down, and club tricks completed an unbid small slam.

Monday's Problem.

What is the correct bidding of this hand?

Conditions Determine Shampoo Date

By MME QUI VIVE

One question asked by beauty seekers is "How often should I shampoo my hair?" An observing woman will know when her hair needs a soapy ducking. It strings out, flattens down, has tantrums, won't stay put, and every shaft is clinging to its neighbor.

Soap and water won't hurt the hair any more than it will injure the skin. So tresses should be washed whenever they need a bath. The conditions under which one lives determine the shampoo date to a certain extent. If much dust is present, if the hair is oily and picks it up quickly a weekly scrubbing may be necessary. Oily hair, of course, loses fluff more quickly than dry hair.

If the brush is used vigorously once a day, much of the surface dust will be removed. Brushes and combs that are not scrupulously clean put in more debris than they remove. It is important for the health of the scalp and the well being of the glorious crown that comb and brush should have a frequent, thorough overhauling with strong soap suds, be placed in the sunlight to dry.

* * *

In warm weather when the scalp perspires freely the dousing of the tresslocks should be frequent. A trip on a train that is not air conditioned will put the coiffure out of form as will a dusty motor trip. So we get back to the answer to the question, which is: when your hair is not clean, give it a scrubbing.

Make a New Year resolution that you will always have a bit of growing green about the house. Maybe it is a care but the green of ivy, the red of berries, and a little later the spring colors of tulips, narcissus and lilies will double the charm of any room. Little clear glass globes not more than two inches around hold bright red berries and gray green mosses planted in a composition that fosters growth and the glass creates a vacuum that preserves them.

CHAPTER 47

"See? See what I mean? See that devil look on her face? Look at her now!"

Worthington Gurley was speaking in an excited stage whisper to Dr. Holgate, and pointing to Peaches Pomeroy.

"She planted that bracelet, Dr. Holgate. Just like I told you We ought to have turned her in."

"You may be right, Gurley. But—to look at her now, I think the uncertainty and fear of her position is greater punishment."

They watched Peaches as Bob Towne left her.

Never, surely, had misery and fear shown more in anybody's expression. Peaches looked ghastly. Not even her expert makeup could conceal the character of her now. Dr. Holgate shuddered. "Thank God!" he muttered—really a prayer of gratitude that he had come to his senses, he who had imagined himself in love with her.

"I want to find Sara Sue Davis," he announced emphatically. "If it is not too late."

"Oh, she's still here," said Worthington. "It's not midnight. Anyhow her coat—"

But Dr. Holgate hadn't meant that. His "too late" was his own secret matter. For Gurley had told him that Bob Towne would marry Sara Sue!

* * *

Thornton Holgate was one of those somewhat rare individuals who store abundant energy, but keep it under control until they themselves will to release it. Such a characteristic is associated with a contemplative, analytical mind, a thinker. Usually they are comparatively sedentary in outward appearances, but can become physically dynamic when occasion demands, dynamic with action!

Thornton had proved this when emergency arose at Galveston beach. Nobody would have suspected that a scholarly instructor in mathematics could be an expert swimmer with stamina enough to save two lives. And again at the Sylvan beach dance hall—he certainly flattened a burly sailor with his fist, just because such a course had been presented to him as reasonable and right.

Now, in the University club, he faced a similar emergency decision. Only, this one was infinitely more important to him, more personal and urgent. He had to act.

He grabbed the younger man by the hand as if he were a little boy, and started pell-mell across the dance floor, craning his neck, looking. "Find Sara Sue," he commanded Worthington.

Unconsciously, hand in hand, they bumped into dancers and walked all about the great ballroomroom. They asked people for Sara Sue.

"She was here a while ago," someone answered. "Don Romero was wooing her."

"I saw Bob Towne cut in on her," said another. "Look for him."

"Isn't she with T. J. Sanders?"

"Try the women's lounge."

Everybody had suggestions, but no definite help. Sara Sue had vanished.

"A whole gang of people went downstairs, to get some air, they said," somebody told them. "She might be with them. They'll be back soon, I imagine."

Thornton and young Gurley hastened down the street. They saw no one on the sidewalks, no one they knew.

"Maybe they walked over to Main," the lad suggested. "Come on."

Downtown Houston was full of people even at this late hour, so that the college crowd was not readily visible. But energetic Worthington stood on a fireplug and caught a flash of evening clothes in a group a block away.

"There they are!" he cried. And then, despite the surroundings—"SARA SUE!"

He yelled it loud enough to make everybody turn and stare, but no matter. He and Dr. Holgate plunged off at a run, Holgate leading him.

At once a messenger boy and two or three pedestrians started running, too.

* * *

A policeman saw them and started after. All in a flash the block became jammed with excited, running, questioning people. Dr. Holgate and Worthington were ignorant of the commotion they created. "SARA SUE!" Dr. Holgate himself yelled, almost desperately.

They caught the other collegians turning a corner.

"Where's the fire?" somebody demanded.

"Sara Sue! Sara Sue Davis—is she here?"

She wasn't. No, she had not come with them. They had not seen her as they left the dance floor. They had just come for a brief walk outside. They had not seen Sara Sue. The crowd encircled them, the policeman came in. Explanation had to be gone over in detail. Thornton Holgate had to do a deal of talking—without explaining much of anything. He simply wanted Sara Sue Davis, urgently and now. He blushed in the telling. He couldn't explain that he wanted to catch her and pour out his love!

"Come on, Gurley!" he commanded, and started running back to the University club. They left people staring and a policeman standing spread-legged, shaking his head.

Back up the club stairs they came onto T. J. Sanders.

"T. J., have you seen Sara Sue Davis?" Worthington panted, excitedly.

* * *

T. J. did not answer at once. To be sure, he had just seen her. In fact, he had just five minutes ago taken his rival in love to her, given them his blessings, and taken his own heavy heart away. He knew exactly where they were. Why all this excitement about her now, he wondered.

"'Smatter? What you want with her?" he demanded of young Gurley.

Now, for the first time, Worthington faced that question.

What, in all truth, did he want with Sara Sue? Why was he plunging wildly around with Dr. Holgate looking for her? The matter of the diamond bracelet had been disposed of. Probably never to be mentioned again. Certainly there was no occasion for such speed, even if they did eventually tell Sara Sue about it Poor Worthington was sadly confused. This evening had been to much for him. He looked at Dr. Holgate.

"Anyhow," T. J. resumed then, "she oughtn't to be interrupted. She's over yonder getting engaged. She's—"

"Engaged!" Dr. Holgate exploded that.

"Yeah. Dammit. But it's all right. If she wants him, she ought to have him. It's her place to say, not mine. Well, ho hum, such is life. Let her alone, can't you? Bob Towne's not so terrible. If she wants—"

"Oh, my Lord!" boomed Holgate, appalled.

He had determined to find her and confess his devotion at once. He had not realized it possible for her to be engaged already, tonight! Things had been moving fast for him this evening, too!

He stood there, breathing fast from his run with Gurley, his hair disheveled now, his necktie at an absurd angle. Sweat beaded his face. "Oh, my! I can't stop now, Gurley! I've simply got to find her and tell her. At once!"

Worthington still couldn't see the hurry. In fact he was coming to think the bracelet episode was best forgotten. Poor kid—he could not read Dr. Holgate's mind!

"SARA SUE!" Dr. Holgate boomed out, like a bell hop paging somebody. "SARA SUE DAVIS!" People again turned to stare.

Almost as if she had heard the summons (as indeed she may have, but subconsciously) Sara Sue herself appeared across the room. With Bob Towne walking near her. Thornton Holgate saw them at once, and he did not hesitate.

"WAIT, SARA SUE!" He yelled it, over the heads of boys and girls. The music stopped, the orchestra assuming this was another floor show surprise. "WAIT! MAKE NO COMMITMENT—UNTIL YOU HEAR ME! SARA SUE!"

He was shouting, his face flushed, intent; a tall man elbowing his way through the dancers, one hand held high and waiving; utterly oblivious of those around him.

"I LOVE YOU, SARA SUE! I WANT TO PROVE IT! . . . I WANT TO MARRY YOU! . . . WAIT! I LOVE YOU! . . . IT IS I, THORNTON! . . . I AM COMING!"

Rams Edge Butler, 15-14; Plymouth Extends Win Streak

Victory Eighth In Row

Shiloh Goes on Scoring Spree to Wallop Greenwich Cagers, 57 to 18.

FRIDAY, the 13th, held no fear for the crack Plymouth high school basketball quintet as it turned back New Haven, 23 to 19, in a Twin-Valley league game on the home court last night to register its eighth straight victory.

The undefeated Tigers had their shaky moments, but, when the chips were down, they again came through in remarkable fashion.

Early in the ball game, it looked like a runaway for Coach Don Dunham's cagemen, but the visitors gradually narrowed the margin, and tied the score in the third period.

At the end of the opening quarter, the Plymouth five held a 10 to 1 advantage. New Haven made a spectacular comeback in the next quarter to reduce the lead to five points, the Tigers leading 14 to 9 at the intermission.

New Haven continued to move up on the Tigers in the third frame, and it ended with the score tied, 19-all. Plymouth held the losers scoreless in the final period to cinch the decision.

All of the heavy scorers were held well in check last night, with Kipp of New Haven high with 11 points. Ellison and Hough paced the winners with six points apiece.

The New Haven Reserves took the Plymouth Jayvees into camp by a 14 to 8 count.

Greenwich No Match for Shiloh.

THE Drummer Boys of Shiloh high had their eyes on the bucket last night as they turned back Greenwich, 57 to 18, in rather easy fashion on the host's court.

The victory vaulted Shiloh in second place in the Twin-Valley league.

There never was any question about the outcome of the tussle after Shiloh jumped into a 17 to 2 lead in the opening quarter. The Drummer Boys, who yielded only six baskets, held a one-sided 32 to 2 advantage at half time.

In the third period, Shiloh extended its lead to 48 to 12, and waltzed through the fourth quarter with Greenwich at its mercy.

Bob Moser and Dean Dawson were the high scorers for Shiloh with 14 and 12 points, respectively. The Shiloh reserves took the prelim game, 25 to 8.

Mike Meder and Son, Edward, Pile Up Hefty Scores In Moose League

Former Cracks Uprights for 279 Game, 730 Total; Son Spanks Pins for Aggregate of 656.

LAST NIGHT was "Meder night" in the Moose Home league, judging from the way Mike, owner of the Meder Recreation alleys, and his son, Edward, pummelled the lumber.

The father held the bigger share of the spotlight with a brilliant 730, but the son was in the glare with a fancy 656.

Mike, bowling with the No. 3 team, rapped the uprights for a snappy 279 in his first game. He started out with a spare, and then blasted out nine straight strikes. A spare in the last frame finished the big score.

The elder Meder added scores of 226 and 225 as he led his teammates to a 2804 series, minus handicap, and a clean sweep over No. 2 Winnie Cleckner, assisted Meder admirably with a 639, which included a pair of 238 games.

The younger Meder whipped up scores of 209, 233 and 214 as he paced the No. 6 team to a 2750 series, which was opened with a record-breaking 994, and three victories over No. 1.

In the other Moose league match, No. 4 took two games from No. 5, led by Bill Donnellan's 612.

The only other score of any consequence shot on the Meder lanes last night was turned in by Streitmater of the C. P. Ranges of the Tappan Stove league, who came through with a 613.

No Donkeys, No Mat Show

Although all the wrestlers scheduled to appear were on hand, Matchmaker Tim Nolan of the Quality Athletic club called off last night's grapple show at the Armory due to the failure of the donkeys billed in a special match to reach the city.

Rather than disappoint a good-sized crowd, Nolan cancelled the show until next week when the new world's lightheavyweight champion will appear.

Nolan was notified shortly before the show was scheduled to start that it would be impossible to bring the donkeys through to Mansfield because of the snow-covered roads in southern Ohio. The animals were featured in a show in West Virginia Thrusday night.

Crestline Rips Indians, 40-30

Reserves Register 15th Straight Victory.

CRESTLINE — Crestline high smothered Mt. Gilead, 40 to 30, in a non-league encounter here last night.

The Onandagas, trailing in the opening chapter, suddenly came to life with some spectacular scoring to jump into the lead they retained until the final gun.

Mt. Gilead clicked in the initial period to take an 8-to-4 lead, but found itself trailing, 15 to 12, at the half. Crestline, a member of the Big Little Four league, continued to add to its total, and went into the final frame sporting a 33-to-19 advantage.

Tennant, Mt. Gilead forward, set the scoring tempo with 12 points, while Phil Ganni topped the Crestline outfit with 11.

The Crestline reserves chalked up their 15th straight victory in the preliminary attraction by halting Mt. Gilead's seconds, 16 to 11.

MARION—Shelby high's North Central Ohio conference cagers ran into a determined Marion Harding outfit here last night and ended up on the short end of a 34 to 27 score.

The Whippets rallied to take a six-point lead midway in the third period, but Harding came back to deadlock the score at 22-all going into the last frame, and then outscored Shelby with ease to win.

Marion was leading, 11 to 7, in the first quarter, and 16 to 14 at the intermission. Andy Irvine, who incidentally, was celebrating his birthday, set the individual pace with 12 points. Lehman led Shelby with 10 points.

The Harding seconds handed the Shelby juniors a 27 to 17 beating.

Ashland Retains N. C. O. Advantage.

ASHLAND—Coach John Longley's Ashland high cagers registered their fourth straight North Ohio conference victory and retained the lead in the race by stopping Galion high, 39 to 28, here last night.

Ashland, which dropped a nonleague tussle to Mansfield high Tuesday night, ran into trouble from the Orangemen for three periods. But with the score tied at 26-all early in the fourth, Ashland, paced by Burns and Barr, spurted to put the game on ice.

The Orangemen led 6 to 3 in the opening quarter while the score at halftime was knotted at 17-all, and then Galion jumped into a 25 to 23 advantage at the end of the third. Burns dropped in 14 points for honor as high-point man, with Barr trailing him with 12.

The Ashland Jay Vees tallied their eighth straight win by walloping Galion reserves, 28 to 6. The Ashland lads held Galion to a single goal.

Lexington, Ontario Stay In Tie for Third Place

Minutemen Hang Up 32 to 16 Victory Over Bellville; Warriors Turn Back Union, 29 to 24.

WITH only four seconds of the game remaining, Joe Miller stepped to the foul line and slipped in a free throw to break a 14-all tie and give the Madison high Rams their sixth straight Richland county league victory last night.

Miller, who was held scoreless for three periods, scored the basket that enabled the Rams to knot the score and then counted on the foul at his team topped the Bulldogs of Butler high, 15 to 14, in a nip-and-tuck affair on the Butler planks before an overflowing crowd.

Coach Al Fendrick's charges went into the final period trailing by a 14 to 9 count, and they set up a sterling defense to hold the Bulldogs scoreless while they registered six points to pull the game out of the fire.

The thrilling victory gave the Rams a two-game lead in the race over Butler. And it was the second league win this week for the Madison aggregation, which defeated Union high Wednesday night.

Butler, smarting from its setback at the hands of the inspired Ontario high courtiers last week, started off on the right foot last night, but couldn't break through the Madison defense in the last frame as it tried desperately to protect its lead.

Madison also ran into a tough Butler defense in the second period, and for a while it looked like the Bulldogs had built up a lead they would be able to protect until the final gun.

Coach Bob Burgett's quintet, which, until it ran into Ontario, had registered seven straight wins, used a zone defense in the opening half and forced Madison to tally all their points from the middle of the court.

Butler led, 7-6, in the first quarter, 10-6, at the half, and 14-9, at the end of the third stanza. Bob Boales of Butler copped individual honors for the evening with five points. Bill Wilkins and Doug DeNero paced Madison with four points apiece, while Wendall Ward of Butler, present leader in the circuit's individual scoring race, was limited to a pair of goals.

Despite the fact it was Friday the 13th, Fendrick, apparently, was not superstitious. He had 13 boys on his varsity squad.

Madison reserves trimmed the Butler seconds, 19 to 17, in an overtime preliminary game.

Rally Gives Ontario Win Over Unionites.

A LAST-PERIOD rally in which they outscored their rivals by a 13 to 4 count gave the Ontario high basketeers a well-earned 29 to 24 triumph over a stubborn Union high quintet in a Richland county league affair at Ontario high last night.

Ontario, upset victor over Butler last week, found Union, cellar occupants in the league race, a tough proposition and had a real scare before it was over. The victory gave Ontario a share of third-place with Lexington.

The Union outfit piled up what looked like a commanding lead in the first half, but lacked the defensive strength to halt the determined Ontario hoopsters.

With Thomas Hudson, star forward, leading the way with 12 points, which set the individual tempo for the evening, Coach Orville Kibler's combine was forced to overcome a 20-to-16 advantage going into the last stanza.

Union vaulted into a 6 to 4 lead in the opening frame, and increased it to a 13 to 7 count at halftime before Ontario started cutting it down to the four-point margin at the end of the third.

Mat Hager followed Hudson in the scoring column for the winners with 10 points, and Creveling paced Union with eight.

The Ontario reserves defeated the Union seconds, 15 to 11, in the prelim.

Minutemen Annex Rough Battle.

LEXINGTON high remains deadlocked with Ontario for third place in the Richland county league title chase today by virtue of its one-sided, 32 to 16, decision over Bellville in a rough-and-tumble battle on the Minutemen's court last night.

The feature of the contest was the brilliant defensive play of Coach John Reese's fast-improving quintet. For two periods, the second and third, the Minutemen set the invading Bellville aggregation down without a point as they chalked up a lead that was never headed.

Lexington tallied a total of 18 free throws in a tussle in which 36 fouls were called, 20 of them against the visitors.

Bellville grabbed the lead in the first chapter, but its inability to solve the clever defense of the Reese-coached team, led to its downfall.

The Bellville machine came back in the final stanza to outpoint Lexington, but the advantage secured by the Minutemen was too much.

Bellville went ahead, 6 to 3, in the initial quarter, and then Lexington jumped into a 10-to-6 lead at halftime, and increased it to a 24-to-6 advantage in the third period.

France collected 11 points to lead both clubs in the scoring column, while Russ Sheriff topped Bellville with four. Sheriff was the only Bellville player to score more than one field goal.

The Lexington reserves topped Bellville, 23 to 17, in the opening game.

Burman Beats Mr. Farr, Too

Briton Drops 5th Straight Bout on U. S. Soil.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Tommy Farr today apparently was eliminated from all further consideration as a comeback challenger for Champion Joe Louis' heavyweight championship as a result of his fifth loss in as many starts in American rings. The victor this tme was Red Burman, Jack Dempsey's protege from Baltimore, who won an unpopular decision in 10 rounds.

Outpointed previously by Louis in a title challenge and by Jim Braddock, Max Baer and Lou Nova, Farr last night seemingly reached the end of the trail in American rings. Burman has never been regarded as better than a second or third rater, but had enough to earn a decision on the votes of the judges, with Referee Pete Hartley casting his ballot for a draw.

Farr, weighing 201½ pounds, had much the better of it on the scales over Burman at 183½, but dropped at least six rounds with one or two others close enough to be called even. Farr's best rounds were the ninth and 10th in which he made a game rally, but too late to do himself any good.

MANSFIELD WRESTLERS LOSE AT WADSWORTH

The Mansfield high wrestling team bowed to Wadsworth in a match at Wadsworth Thursday. The Tygers won four of the 10 bouts. The Mansfield winners were Bob McDonough, 115, won on a decision in eight minutes; P. Phaler, 115, pinned his foe in 2 minutes, 40 seconds; Rube Sorg, 155, threw his opponent in 25 seconds, and Pugh, 155, defeated his adversary in six minutes, 55 seconds.

Wins Opening Rifle Match

Mansfield Club Defeats Gascomen, 1364 to 1313.

The Mansfield rifle and pistol club drew first blood in the city championship match with the Richland club in the inaugural of a six-game series at the loser's range last night. The score was 1364 to 1313.

Fred Sells held the high gun for the Mansfield team with an aggregate of 283, shooting a perfect 100 score from the prone position. Lloyd Barr's gun barked out a 277 score for the winners, with Harold Goetz contributing a 270.

Dale Arnold of the Mansfield club also shot a perfect score from prone as he accounted for a 266 score.

Lee Arntz paced the Gasco shooters with a 273 score. Arntz also had a perfect 100 from prone. Mike Marvicson's 264 was next high for the losers. The scores follow, with only the first five high on each team figuring in the total:

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

WHY are so many hunters turned down by farmers when permission isn't asked of the landowner? Here's the answer (information given by a local sportsman):

"Just recently, we are reliably informed, two hunters were trespassing on a farm near here. The owner of the farm approached the two hunters and asked them to get off his property. They roundly cursed the farmer and even/dared him to try to put them off. They finally left after a lot of persuasion. It is regrettable the farmer didn't have them arrested and prosecuted, but, of course, that is water now over the dam.

"The point is this: Under our new wild life setup, it will take the co-operation of all concerned to bring game back in our state. We need a lot of help from the farmers, who practically raise all the game. Instances like the one mentioned don't help any of us."

Food for squirrels during the winter consists of nuts of all kinds, unroasted peanuts, ear corn and acorns. There are a lot of squirrels in Mansfield, and many persons take a keen interest in feeding them. Food for birds can include sunflower seeds, cracked or whole corn, hemp, millet, buckwheat, oats, wheat, barley, bread crumbs and suet. The suet, if fastened to a tree in the back yard, will often attract chickadees, titmice, brown creepers, nuthatches, bluejays, cardinals, downy and hairy woodpeckers and several other species.

According to the American Kennel club, the cocker spaniel is still America's favorite pure bred dog. Others in the first 10 are Scotties, fox terriers, beagles, Pekingese, dachshunde, springer spaniels, chows and greyhounds. English setters and pointers are still well up on the list.

When winter prevents the enjoyment of the outdoor sports, many men keep fit at home or at the "Y", through exercise and games. Yunckers carry a complete assortment of gym clothes, basketball togs, etc. And, of coudse, basket balls, hand balls, boxing gloves, striking bags and all the other requisites for the enjoyment of indoor sports.

Earl Herrick's Hi-Speeds to Attempt to Halt Yuncker Sports' Winning Streak Monday Night

EARL HERRICK is priming his Hi-Speed quintet for an upset victory at Senior high Monday night in the initial program of the second round race in the City Class A league.

Although they registered only one triumph in the opening round title chase, the Hi-Speeds are looking forward to their clash with the undefeated Yuncker Sports combine in the opening tussle at 7:30 o'clock.

The Westinghouse Electrics and the Elks Lodge clubs, which finished the first round in a tie with the Hi-Speeds for second place, tangle in the second tilt and anything but a slow battle is anticipated.

Whether the Hi-Speeds have the defensive strength to halt the high-scoring Yuncker machine is a question, but plenty of fireworks are expected.

Herrick's outfit dropped a 33-16 decision to the Sports in the opening game of the season, but the club was handicapped when two of its regulars failed to show up.

With George Nana and Delnore Goldsmith in the lineup, the Hi-Speeds have two players who can fight it out with John Reese and Al Stickler in rebounding.

But the Hi-Speeds chances of halting the Yuncker team's brilliant 12-game winning streak in City league play will depend on their ability to stop the spectacular scoring of LaVerne "Hawk" Gray, who has paced his club in its last two triumphs.

Manager Jimmy Breres will throw his best offensive attack against the Hi-Speeds in an effort to put his team over the No. 13 winning marker. In addition to Reese, Stickler and Gray, Breres has two other starters who can dump in the points consistently. They are Harold Hayfer and Freddie Lewis, a pair of dependable guards, who have been particularly impressive under "pressure."

Breres will also have his worries as he endeavors to set up a defense to stop Clarence Herrick and Bob Fisher. Fisher, Shelby high product, has a dangerous overhand shot that is practically impossible to stop. And Breres hopes the youngster will not be "on" in Monday evening's clash.

The Elks lodge expects to strengthen its roster for the second round championship race, but to what extent is not known. However, Pilot Jerry King, hopes to add enough punch to his team's attach to make it factors in the battle.

Manager George Percy has a group of players which he hopes to mould into a winning aggregation to fight it out for the second round crown.

SENATE TO BACK HOUSE ON WPA

Leaders See Roosevelt Get New Set-Back After Lower Chamber Passes Bill.

that the appropriation be made without strings and that congress take further time in which to work out legislation against politics in relief.

Instead the house wrote these provisions into the measure:

That none of the money should be used to pay WPA officials and administrative employes under the civil service—this to forestall a presidential order blanketing thousands of them into civil service Feb. 1.

Limits Pay Variation.

That for the same or comparable work in different states the WPA could not vary relief wages more than 25 per cent.

That none of the money could be used to pay salaries or benefits to any official or beneficiary who tried to influence the vote of a WPA worker. This amounted to a statement of policy, since no elections are scheduled in the five-month period.

That no relief funds be paid to aliens.

That the WPA reverse a recent order and continue on work relief men and women over 65, all of whom the WPA had classified as unemployable and ordered turned over to local relief agencies. This order was to be effective Jan. 31. That the farm security administration be prevented from using any of the money to establish hosiery mills on federal homesteads.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo), announced a senate appropriations subcommittee would begin hearings on the bill Monday morning. He predicted that both his committee and the full appropriations committee would approve the house figure, at the most, and said some effort might be made to reduce it.

There were some indications that senators would go even further than house members in writing restrictions on WPA policies.

Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) and his unemployment committee have worked out a program for distributing WPA funds under rules laid down by congress instead of authority delegated, as for the last six years, to the administration.

Replacement Plan Seen.

Some persons understood that Byrnes had in mind, possibly as a long range objective, ultimate replacement of the present relief system by a new one based on the idea of tying together the United States unemployment service and the unemployment compensation work of the social security board.

Byrnes and others have discussed apportioning the money by states on the basis of population, the number of jobless and possibly area.

Passage of the relief bill cleared the house decks of legislation ready for immediate action, and leaders expected only routine meetings the first half of next week.

The senate faced a busy schedule, however, having yet to act upon the nominations of Harry L. Hopkins to be secretary of commerce, Prof. Felix Frankfurter to be a member of the supreme court, and Frank Murphy to be attorney general.

Many members of both major parties predicted all three nominations would be confirmed.

SCOUT PRIMARIES SET

SHELBY — The primaries for the Boy Scout election will be held Wednesday night at the First Methodist church. Twenty-five petitions have been filed by Scouts of Troop 1 and 3 at the district election headquarters. The election will follow the primaries on Jan. 31.

HOME DAMAGED

ASHLAND—Slight damage to household goods by water was caused when flames swept the dwelling house of Mrs. Emma Morr and Lou Cowan on Center street at noon Friday.

Firemen extinguished the blaze after it had burned through a part of the roof into the attic.

The loss was covered by insurance.

Shelby

Mrs. Harry Patrie was the hostess when the St. Mark's Guild held its monthly meeting Friday night at her home with 14 members present. Miss Dorothy Williams, president, conducted the business meeting. The next meeting will be held in February at the home of Mrs. Russell Pemberton.

Mrs. S. J. Dick, assisted by Mrs. L. L. Hillard and Mrs. Paul Lego, entertained members of the Ladies' Bible class of the First Evangelical and Reformed church Friday at her home. Eighteen members were present for the program in charge of Mrs. Mark Hasler, president, and Mrs. A. E. Fair, devotional chairman.

The Misses Jane Ritchey and Elvera Dibble entertained a group of friends last evening at the Weaver Inn in honor of Miss Ila Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Crawford, a bride-elect of William Taft Evans of Cleveland.

Mrs. Stewart Fackler was chosen president and Mrs. Joe Lindsey, secretary, at the annual meeting of the Jolly Fifteen club this week at the home of Mrs. Walter Moore. One guest, Miss Emaline Dell, was present.

Miss Kathryn Metz will give a report to the Youth Advance program of the North-East Ohio Methodist conference held recently at Akron at the weekly meeting of the Epworth league of the First Methodist church Sunday night.

Members of Noble Council of the Daughters of America will attend a public display Monday evening to be presented by the Ashland council at their rooms in Ashland.

THEATERS

"The Young In Heart."

THERE are several reasons why you'll want to see "The Young In Heart," the film version of the Saturday Evening Post story, "The Gay Banditti," which opens at a midnight show tonight at the Madison. You may remember the charming, gay Carleton family, but even if you don't there is Paulette Goddard, who is coming right along, and who even yet may play Scarlet in "Gone With the You-Know-What." This is her second good break—the first was in "Dramatic School"—and she looks like a new star. Then there is Janet Gaynor and the irrepressible good spirits of young Doug Fairbanks not forgetting Roland Young and Billie Burke. It's a story of fascinating phonies.

* * *

"Stand Up and Fight."

The gorgeous Mr. Taylor, heckled all over these United States for his too-good-looks, develops hair on his chest way down to here in "Stand Up and Fight" —because anyone who can lick the pants off old Wallace Beery has to be a he-man. Even in the movies. The fisticuff honors are even however, for there are two fights, Beery winning one and Taylor the other. 'Tis said there hasn't been such fighting since Tom Santchi and William Farnum cut each other to ribbons in "The Spoilers" years and years ago. Florence Rice is the softening influence in this bitter rivalry of the 1850's.

* * *

"Swing Your Lady."

A crime club Mystery story, "The Last Warning," and a hillbilly comedy, "Swing Your Lady" will be shown at the Majestic tomorrow and Monday. The former was adapted from the novel "The Dad Don't Care" and keeps the audience guessing until the last of the last reel. In the hillbilly comedy are the Weaver Brothers and Elmirey, Humphrey Bogart, Frank McHugh and Louise Fazenda.

* * *

"Lord Jeff."

Mickey Rooney, who jumped from B class pictures the past year to position as one of the first ten big box office attractions, and Freddie Bartholomew are starred in "Lord Jeff." Much of the action is aboard a ship at sea, where Freddie, as a fugitive, meets real boys for the first time. Another opportunity to see and hear hillbilly brand of entertainment is provided in a re-showing of "Kentucky Moonshine" with the Ritz Brothers, Tony Martin and Marjorie Weaver.

* * *

"Lady for a Day."

Do you remember "Lady For A Day" which was a milestone of human interest in the movies for several years. A re-issue of this great story of Damon Runyan's will be one of the Park theater attractions for the first half of the week. May Robson, you may recall, was the "Apple Annie" who became a great lady for a day. Warren William, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell, Jean Parker, Barry Norton are others in the cast. "Federal Man Hunt" is the second feature.

MINISTER ILL

PERRYSVILLE — Rev. O. C. Kramer, former pastor of the Perrysville and Pleasant Valley Lutheran churches, suffered a heart attack at his home in Sebring last week, according to news received by friends here recently.

Dr. Kramer, it is reported, was stricken after preaching at a special service on Tuesday evening. His condition is reported improved.

New Romantic Team of Screen

The lady with the smile is none other than the much-publicized Paulette Goddard who (a) will or (b) will not, play the tempestuous heroine of "Gone With the You-Know-What," but who very definitely is playing one of the fascinating phonies in "The Young in Heart," a picturization of the Saturday Evening Post story "The Gay Banditti." Beside her is Douglas Fairbanks, jr. The picture dealing with the charming Carletons opens at the Madison in a midnight show tonight.

Bellville

HOSTESS TO CLUB

Miss Minnie Armstrong was hostess to the Bellville Music club at her home, Thursday evening. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Verna Blackstone, Miss Alma Stoner, Miss Alice Schwed, Mrs. Mary Hodge and Miss Alice Morgan.

"American Performers" was the subject of a paper read by Miss Myrth Shafer.

Mrs. Marjorie Frye sang "A Chinese Lullaby;" Mrs. Evelyn Jane Rowe and Mrs. Betty Switzer sang "Shubert's Serenade" and "On Wings of Love."

Mrs. Dorothy Friday read "The Life of Marian Anderson," and Mrs. Evelyn Jane Rowe sang "Last Night."

A paper on "The Metropolitan Opera Guild" was read by Mrs. Lena Jackson. A piano solo, "Liebestraum" was played by Mrs. Betty Switzer.

BRIEFS

Circle No. 1 of the Ladies Aid society of the St. Paul-Salem Lutheran church met at the home of Mrs. A. A. Shafer Wednesday afternoon with 11 members present. They voted to furnish a program for the Congregational meeting which will be held at the church January 26.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Holdren entertained at dinner Thursday evening Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Cox and daughter, evangelists, and Rev. and Mrs. D. L. Brandenburg and son of Mansfield.

* * *

Mrs. Helen Parker visited Tuesday and Wednesday in Mt. Vernon. While there she attended the concert sponsored by the Community Music club.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Hempel Neer left for Dade City, Fla., where they expect to remain for the winter months.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weaver of Mansfield were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weaver.

* * *

U. G. Fry was able to be brought to his home southwest of town after being confined in General hospital for several months.

The Ladies Missionary society of the Presbyterian church will be held at the home of Mrs. Max Garber, Thursday, Jan. 19.

CONDUCTS HYMN SERVICE SUNDAY

St. Matthew's Church to Sing Old Favorites Tomorrow.

A sacred hymn service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at St. Matthew's Lutheran church. Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor, will have as his sermon subject for this service, "The Power and Messages of Our Hymns."

Hymns that will be sung during the service are, "Rock of Ages," "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," "Pass Me Not O Gentle Savier," "Take My Life, and Let It Be," and "There Were Ninety and Nine."

Holy Communion will be celebrated at this service and at the morning worship at 10:30. The morning sermon subject will be, "Christ's Last Breakfast."

NAMED AGAIN

ASHLAND—For the second year, Robert D. Ingmand was named as president of the Ashland Y. M. C. A. at the annual reorganization meeting held here.

Other officers re-elected included Curtiss Ginn, jr., vice president; F. J. Ryan, recording secretary; D. P. Enck, treasurer; C. D. Leiter, trustee; E. B. Tieman, general secretary, and S. M. Martin, physical director.

Two new members of the board named included F. J. Blake and E. H. Ritter.

HOLD SONGFEST

PERRYSVILLE — An old-fashioned "sing" and a study of the life and work of Stephen Foster occupied the program time of the Junior Music club when it met at the home of Marjorie Browning here.

After Miss Rose Covert discussed the various Foster works, Miss Jane Weltmer played a piano solo, "Memories of Stephen Foster."

A vocal duet was sung by Misses Marjorie Browning and Jane Weltmer.

Other music by Foster was played by a trio consisting of Russell McBride, Dick Byers and Charles McBride.

SHELBY RELIEF COSTS $9,296

SHELBY—Shelby spent $9,296,-74 on its relief program during 1938, according to the report filed today at the city hall by Public Welfare Clerk Gail Haun. The city took over its own relief from the county commissioners last March.

Of this amount, the city paid $4,958.33 from its own funds with the county commissioners giving the city $4,238.41 as its share of the state taxes for relief purposes during the 10-month period. There was a deficiet of $659 in the relief fund at the close of the past year.

NAMED TRUSTEE

PERRYSVILLE — Herschel Forbes of near Perrysville, was elected a trustee of the historic St. John's cemetery at a meeting of the association members held last week.

Reorganization of the board of trustees was completed with the re-election of C. R. Mengert, of Pleasant Valley, as president.

Other officers are M. M. Darling of Ankenytown, retained as clerk, and Floyd Cole of near Loudonville, treasurer.

Other members of the cemetery board are O. F. Darling, G. L. Darling and Howard Wigton.

$104 PAID COURT

SHELBY—Total revenue from municipal court fines and fees was set for December at $104.70, according to a report released today by Mayor D. B. Young. Fines netted $54.50 during the month, while permits and licenses brought in revenue of $64. A total of $12.40 was collected in court costs.

BELLVILLE GIRL DIES

BELLVILLE — Miss Maxine Oyster, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Oyster of Bellville, died at the home today after a lingering illness. Her parents and a brother, Rodney, of Bellville, survive. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Named Supervisor

L. O. Staiger, who has been manager of the Liberty Shoe store in Mansfield for the past 15 years, has been appointed district supervisor of the L. O. Ostrov shoe stores in Newark and Mansfield. Staiger will spend half his time in the Mansfield store.

17 QUIZZED IN THEFT

NEW YORK —(INS)— Seventeen employes of New York's municipal subway system were under investigation today for the suspected theft of $250,000 taken in nickles from fare boxes during the last year.

TALKS TO CLUB

Crestline Resident Tells Of Trip Through West.

CRESTLINE — Clarence Speelman, president of the Young Men's club, who returned the past week from a month's trip through Texas, Mexico, California and Seattle, Wash., gave an interesting description of his trip to members of the club at its weekly meeting.

He showed pictures in connection with his talk. Sixteen members and Advisor C. L. Klahn were in attendance. Devotions were led by Carl Scheiber.

Plans were discussed for a "ladies night" which will be held the latter part of January. The treasurer's report was read by Ned Foltz and gave a balance on hand of $54.80.

SESSIONS CLOSE

BELLVILLE — Following a two-day Farmers' institute at the high school auditorium, the B. C. and S. Elevator company sponsored a free farm movie show on Thursday evening with a full house in attendance.

The feature "Hidden Treasures" was one of interest to all formers. It showed how a poor and depleted soil could be made to produce good crops by the addition of plant food elements, such as nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium.

The feature "Modern Steel and Wire Mills," showed the process of making fence, rods and nails.

NEW MEMBERS

PERRYSVILLE — Following a week of strenuous initiation ceremonies, eleven new Girl Reserves were formally initiated during a candle light service held recently.

A program of games and contests furnished entertainment for the evening.

The new Girl Reservists are Jane Weltmer, Ruth Raridan, Vivian Beck, Anna Mae Wilson, Aubrey Frank, Betty Frank, Lois Wilson, Mae Brubaker, Marjorie Browning.

NEW ECONOMY SHIFT PLEASES WALL STREET

Stocks Tack Up Gains as House Reduces WPA Spending Program.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks took rallying nourishment in today's market and leading issues tacked up gains of fractions to more than 2 points at the best.

While buying interest was relative light—transfers for the two hours were around 500,000 shares—pivotal steels, motors, aircrafts and rails were favored.

Action of the house of representatives in lopping $150,000,000 from the president's WPA spending program seems to please Wall street, notwithstanding some thought the new economy shift might be a bit "deflationary." Realization also was present that government funds would expand for armaments and other projects sufficient to keep the "inflation" pot boiling.

Lessening of war talk, following the Anglo-Italian communique, was seen as a buoying influence for the lately shaky market.

Steels were given a lift despite forecasts in some quarters next week's mill operations might undergo another slight downward revision.

Prominent stocks on the comeback included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglass Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, Glenn Martin, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Pennsylvania, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Westinghouse, and General Electric.

Bonds and commodities trailed stocks to a lesser extent.

CITY DIGS OUT OF HEAVIEST SNOW

5 And 1-2 Inch Blanket Snarls Traffic; Storm Extends To Seaboard.

Five passengers in a Galion-Mansfield Transit company bus escaped injury yesterday afternoon when the bus, operated by John C. Schill of Galion, collided with an automobile at Park avenue west and Western avenue.

Both L. G. Brewer, 681 Arlington avenue, driver of the car, and Schill told police the light at the intersection was green as they approached from two directions.

State highway patrolmen said the slippery highway caused a three-car accident on route 42 six miles north of Mansfield yesterday afternoon. No one was injured, however.

The machines were driven by James J. Leverington, New York City; Willard Vanderveer, Highland Park, N. J., and W. C. Johnston, Mt. Gilead.

A blizzard swept through New England, and eight inches of snow caused one of the worst traffic snarls in New York City's history. A brigade of 32,000 men worked to clear the streets, and police issued warnings to out-of-town residents not to attempt to drive their cars into the city area.

Loudonville

HOLDS SESSION

The Loudonville Music club met Wednesday evening in the Methodist church. A pot-luck supper was served. Mrs. C. A. Mayer was chairman of the committee in charge of the supper, and was assisted by Mrs. O. K. Andress, Misses Anne Lowery and Eileen Davis and Mrs. Donald Fulmer. The following program was presented:

TREASURER TO FACE JURORS

Alleged Irregularities In Ashland County Office To Be Probed Tuesday.

ASHLAND—Alleged irregularities in the sales tax division of the Ashland county treasurer's office will be investigated at the regular session of the grand jury Tuesday, it was revealed today.

Evidence expected to be submitted to the grand jury is the alleged confession of Treasurer H. O. Faber at a hearing of bonding companies before the county commissioners.

Decision of the commissioners to refuse cancellation of Faber's bonds totaling $40,000 at the request of the American Surety company and New York Casualty company yesterday will be appealed to common pleas court, Atty. Vernon Burt, representing the two surety companies, has announced, but the action will not interfere with the grand jury investigation.

The commissioners contended in announcing their decision that the bonding firms had not submitted sufficient reason, as required by statute, to have the bonds cancelled, although they admitted that the evidence presented by the companies showed shortages in the office of the treasurer.

They also stated that they could not cancel the treasurer's bond because of the resignation of Olen Faber, deputy treasurer and son of the treasurer, and his replacement by a "man in whom the board has the utmost confidence," Guy B. Murray, former county treasurer. Faber appointed Murray to replace his son, Wednesday.

Commissioners today prepared a transcript of testimony and arguments in the hearings on the petition requesting the cancellation of the bonds.

Bates Dusts Off 'Snow' Ordinance, Warns Of Walks

Police Chief Meade K. Bates today dusted off a 20-year-old city ordinance which he promised to enforce as property owners and residents throughout downtown Mansfield were warned by patrolmen to remove the snow from the sidewalks in front of their places of business.

"The ordinance is going to be enforced to the letter," the chief said.

Pointing to the icy condition of city sidewalks following a heavy snowstorm here several weeks ago which made walking treacherous, Bates said there was "no excuse" for such a condition.

"Residents throughout the city will be notified to clean off their walks and if the order isn't followed out—in they come," he warned.

Bates said that all patrolmen on the first and second shifts had been given the "bring-em in" order with instructions to see that the ordinance was enforced.

He pointed out that the statute requires all occupants of buildings fronting a sidewalk within the corporation to clean the snow from their walks by 9 a. m. on the day succeeding any deposit of snow.

Teh ordinance provides for a fine of from $5 to $50 for each violation.

U. S. Launches Alcatraz 'Shakedown' After Escape Try

GUARDS SCOUR PRISON CELLS IN SAW HUNT

Desperado Barker, One of Five Captured Convicts, Dies of Bullet Wounds.

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO — The government today conducted a "shakedown" of Alcatraz, its prison for the toughest desperadoes, to learn how five of them managed to saw out of their cells yesterday. The ringleader, Arthur (Doc) Barker, was fatally wounded in the capture.

Federal Prison Director James V. Bennett flew here from Washington to direct the investigation.

Guards swarmed over the island prison and the strictest discipline prevailed as they searched for other steel saws that might have eluded the "electric stool pigeon."

The mechanical "stool pigeon," in prison parlance, is an electric eye that detects the presence of metal objects that pass its beam. All incoming convicts are marched across the light as an added precaution that the guards have not overlooked a hidden weapon or instrument to use in such a break as Barker led.

Guards Face Mystery.

How the desperadoes obtained a saw for the latest break was a mystery. What became of it likewise was reported unknown by prison officials.

Recaptured with Barker, as all five slid down the steep slopes in a frantic effort to plunge into the bay and swim a mile to the mainland were: Dale Stamphill, 27, Henry Young, 28, Rufus McCain, 36, and William Martin, 25.

Barker died last night in the prison hospital. He was shot through the head and leg. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the kidnaping of Edward C. Bremer, of St. Louis, and was a co-leader of the Barker-Karpis gang that terrorized the middlewest three years ago.

He was the third son of Kate (Ma) Barker to die violently in a clash with the law. A fourth is serving life in Leavenworth, another federal prison. Ma Barker herself was slain with another son in a 6-hour battle with federal agents in Florida.

Stamphill, a "lifer" from Oklahoma, was reported near death in the prison hospital. He was shot through both legs and an artery was severed.

The guards fired when Barker and Stamphill would not stop. The prisoners sawed out of their cells and dropped 10 feet to the ground.

Dietrich Says He Rejected Davey's College Job Offer

COLUMBUS—(UP)—State Education Director E. N. Dietrich revealed today that he had been asked by Martin L. Davey, who retired as governor this week, to accept the presidency of Bowling Green State university.

Dietrich said he was called to the governor's office last Saturday.

"Of course, the governor could not appoint the president of any state college but he said that he would obtain the appointment for me," Dietrich said. "I told him that under such circumstances I could not accept."

The education director also said that he had refused to make certain appointments requested by the governor prior to the effort to obtain his resignation from the education directorship and the promise of the college presidency.

"Offered to me by proper authority, I would consider the presidency of Bowling Green," Dietrich said.

The Bowling Green presidency is vacant because of the death of Dr. Roy E. Offenhauer in an automobile accident.

Three former Mansfielders held a reunion in Akron Wednesday when the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael J. Ready, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, Washington, D. C., appeared in Akron to open the Akron deanery lecture series. A picture in the Akron Beacon-Journal showed Msgr. Ready being met by his father, Michael T. Ready of Barberton and the Rt. Rev. Msgr F. A. Schreiber, pastor of St. Bernard's church in Akron. Msgr. Schreiber was pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church here before going to Akron. Msgr. Ready and his father also are former Mansfield residents.

A Mansfield woman has just learned why none of her friends received her Christmas cards this year and as a result her husband will be confined to the "dog house" for some time. She gave him something like 60 carefully addressed envelopes to mail just before the holiday, and learned only recently that none of them had been received. Upon questioning Friend Husband as to mailing them, he assured her vehemently that he certainly had—he remembered it distinctly because he had forgotten to mail them here and had carried them to Cleveland and had mailed them from there. What he didn't know was that every card was addressed "City" and not "Mansfield."

Being a superstitious sort of a fellow, Bob Burgett, who coaches basketball at Butler high school, was not surprised when his quintet lost to Madison, 15 to 14, last night, Friday, the 13th. As he reached the school prior to the game, a big black cat raced in front of Burgett. Then to add to his discomfort, the Madison team had 13 players in uniform. And it was the 13th attempt at two foul line that won the game for Madison.

Robert Early, a sophomore student at Senior High school, had the role of a "radio artist" today with his own program. Early, a baritone, was to present a 15-minute program of songs at 2:30 p. m. from station WHK, Cleveland. Two other Mansfield students will appear in similar program at WHK. Dale Bechtel, violinist, plays Jan. 28 and Richard Sparks, pianist, Feb. 11.

HELD IN THEFTS

Three Norwalk Men Accused Of Stealing Clover Seed.

Three Norwalk men were held in the county jail on breaking and entering charges after two of them admitted the theft of 14 bushels of clover seed from a barn on the C. C. Guthrie farm in Butler township.

Returned here by Sheriff E. P. Long and deputies, the men are Lavern Huber, 30; Harold Court, 33, and John Bell, 25.

Authorities said the clover seed, valued at more than $100, was found in Bell's automobile. He was arrested by state highway patrolmen in Seneca county.

Sheriff Long said the trio probably will be arraigned in municipal court here Monday morning.

MRS. KAUFFMAN TAKEN BY DEATH

Springfield Township Woman Victim of Heart Attack.

CALL ON WPA TO REHIRE 100 HERE

Labor Groups Send Resolution To Washington; Mayor Joins In Layoff Protests.

The rehiring of 100 men and women dismissed from WPA because they are eligible for other forms of relief was demanded by the Richland county Industrial council, the American Federation of Teachers and the Workers Alliance in a resolution sent to government officials in Washington today.

Adopted unanimously last night by a group of more than 200 persons who attended a mass meeting of WPA workers at the Germania hall, the resolution urges that the women be restored to their jobs from which they were dismissed last week and protests against any further cuts in WPA rolls in Richland county.

Copies of the resolution in the form of a telegram were sent to President Roosevelt, Senator A. V. Donahey, Congressman William A. Ashbrook and Col. F. C. Harrington, administrator of WPA.

At the same time, Mayor Claude M. Hunter sent four letters protesting against the layoffs here. They were sent to Harrington, Ashbrook, Donahey and Ralph C. Lutz, Richland county representative.

Hunter pointed out in his letters that women with dependent children have been and are being dismissed without first determining that they are eligible for benefits under the social security program.

He demanded that the women be reinstated "until such time as proper arrangements can be made to care for them from some other source."

Criticism of the WPA policy of dropping all persons eligible for other forms of relief, particularly mothers, was voiced at the meeting by Charles Baxter, Cleveland, a member of the executive board of the Workers Alliance, who addressed the group.

200 BUDDING JOURNALISTS TURN OUT FOR FIRST INSTITUTE HERE

Approximately 200 boys and girls with journalistic ambitions, members of school newspaper staffs in this section of the state, attended the first annual scholastic newspaper institute in Mansfield yesterday for shop talks and discussions on improving their papers.

The institute was co-sponsored by the John Simpson Times and the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, and sessions were held at the Mansfield-Leland ballroom and the Chamber of Commerce assembly room. Paul W. Williams, secretary of the Chamber, gave the official welcome at a joint session.

Edwin W. Fensch, teacher at John Simpson Junior High, and editorial adviser of the Times, was chairman of the editorial staff meeting at the hotel, and Nelson Neff, also of John Simpson, presided at the business staff meeting at the Chamber of Commerce.

He is business adviser of the Times.

Among the faculty advisers of high school papers who attended the institute were Kenneth S. Nixon, Madison high; Gertrude E. Mann, Galion; Shirley F. Ross, Ashland; M. Dewalt, Crestline; J. C. Christy, Shreve; Elizabeth White, Delaware, and Norma Hammond, Oberlin. There were student representatives from those schools, as well as from Tiffin, Willard, Lexington, Lucas and Willard.

R. D. Lindsay, managing editor of The News-Journal, was the first speaker at the editorial session, and talked on "News Writing and News Story Leads." He pointed out that school papers, like daily papers, are successful only when interesting, and that "an interesting, colorful presentation of your school news is bound to make your paper more readable than standardized stories that look as though they had all been poured into the same mold."

Jane Williams, feature writer on The News-Journal staff, urged the school writers to "go outside your school building for stories—ring door bells, pound pavements, if necessary, for human interest stories, interviews and features that will make your paper interesting to the general public as well as to school circles."

Fensch gave a technical talk on "Make Up and Headline Writing," in which he told them that the position of the story depends upon its importance and explained the mechanics of writing good headlines.

Perry Cragg, ace photographer for the Cleveland News, talked on photography, the type of cameras best suited for news work, composition, lighting and how to "pose" subjects so that the picture doesn't look posed.

An unexpected addition to the editorial program at the Leland hotel was the appearance of Louis Bromfield, famous Mansfield-born novelist, who once was a Mansfield newspaper reporter. He talked to the group briefly and assured them that a newspaper training had unlimited possibilities for other types of jobs and careers. Afterward he was interviewed by a number of the school reporters and besieged by autograph collectors.

Speakers at the business staff session were Neff, business adviser of the John Simpson Times; J. A. Plumb, advertising manager of The News-Journal; W. W. Blauser, assistant principal of John Simpson, and Louis A. Them, of The News-Journal advertising staff.

Neff talked on circulation campaigns and the general business management of a high school paper, while Blauser discussed how to prepare a budget and how to finance a school paper.

Plumb told them how to prepare advertising copy before a prospect is approached, and the value of timely copy.

"Watch the windows of merchants and prepare their copy to conform to their trends," he said.

Them, one of the oldest advertising men in point of service on The News-Journal, discussed layout importance in preparing advertising copy.

"Good display, good illustrations, proper arrangement, and the judicious use of white space are the four most important points to remember in layout work," he said.

At the close of the institute Fensch said that because of the interest in this first meeting, an effort would be made to make it an annual affair.

PRINCE STRICKEN

Denmark's 'Uncle of Kings' Dies of Influenza.

COPENHAGEN —(AP)— Prince Valdemar of Denmark, famous "uncle of kings," died today of bronchial influenza. He was 80.

He was an uncle of King Christian of Denmark and the youngest brother of the late Queen Alexandria of Great Britain, the wife of King Edward VII.

He received the nickname "uncle of kings" before the World war when his nephews were on the thrones of five countries — Great Britain, Norway, Denmark, Greece and Russia.

Valdemar himself was offered a throne but refused it. Bulgaria in 1887 asked him to become its king, but he preferred the life of a prince of Denmark and his career in the Danish navy.

HEARINGS OVER, COMMITTEES TO DRAFT REPORTS

Capital Predicts Frankfurter, Hopkins, Murphy All Will Win Approval.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The three men President Roosevelt chose to fill highly important vacancies in the government establishment — two cabinet portfolios and one supreme court post—today were marked for early approval by the senate.

All three were scrutinized for fitness for their new jobs this week by senate committees, and apparently all three measured up to required standards.

The nominees are:

Felix Frankfurter, 54-year-old Austrian born Jew and Harvard law school professor, appointed to succeed the late associate justice Benjamin N. Cardozo on the supreme court. After two days of testimony opposing his nomination before a judiciary sub-committee, Frankfurter himself appeard, testified, and was quickly approved by the sub-committee.

Report Due Next Week.

Harry L. Hopkins, the 48-year-old former WPA administrator who, after a fairly rocky three-day hearing which closed before the senate commerce committee yesterday, was slated for probable approval as secretary of commerce when the committee files its report Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. He succeeds Daniel C. Roper.

Frank Murphy, 45, former governor of Michigan and high commissioner to the Philippines, whose appointment as attorney-general was okayed by a senate judiciary subcommittee, following which Murphy, in an unusual maneuver, asked to appear, and did appear before the subcommittee yesterday, to reveal the "inside story" of the part he played in the automobile industry's sit-down strikes as chief executive of his state in 1937.

When the mild-mannered, diminutive Frankfurter faced the judiciary subcommittee, its members had been regaled with testimony that he was a "red" and a "menace to the nation." Calmly, but with gatling-gun capacity, he denied he was a Communist, proclaimed his loyalty to the constitution, defended his membership in the American Civil Liberties union. He was approved—quickly.

The examination of Hopkins yesterday turned into a thumbnail investigation of alleged "politics in relief." The lank son of an Iowa harnessmaker who, as WPA chief, acquired the title of "the greatest spender of them all," admitted that political pressure had been brought on WPA during the Kentucky and Tennessee primary elections. Such situations he declared were indefensible, but unavoidable.

BOARD ELECTED

17 Named at First Christian Church Meeting.

Seventeen members were elected to the official board of the First Christian church at the annual congregational meeting last night which was presided over by John B. Carter, chairman of the board.

Elected were John B. Carter, Emmett Izer, and Edward Kissel, elders; G. W. McFarland, honorary elder; George Gribling and C. C. Bemiller, trustees; Edward Kindinger, L. B. Hagerman, H. A. Robinson, Glenn Fulton, Atty. H. G. Clark, P. J. Mayer, Bert Baker, A. H. Pfleiderer, and W. W. Enlow, deacons; C. D. McVicar, treasurer, and Mrs. E. L. Penny, financial secretary.

Reports of all church organizations for 1938 also were presented. A consecration service for the new church officers and for the Bible school officers elected in October will be held Jan. 29.

The Christian Endeavor society was in charge of a program of entertainment following the meeting, and the Gleaners class of the Bible school was in charge of the dinner.

(By Associated Press)

TODAY

Senate and house both in recess.

YESTERDAY

Senate

Judiciary subcommittee reaffirmed approval of Frank Murphy's nomination to be attorney general.

Commerce committee concluded hearings on Harry Hopkins nomination to be secretary of commerce.

Finance committee heard Secretary Hull denounce "sugar lobby."

Military affairs committee decided to begin study of defense problems next Tuesday.

House

Passed relief bill, 397 to 16, granting WPA $725,000,000 to operate through June 30, after voting, 226 to 137, to reduce total $150,000,000 below President Roosevelt's request.

Not That It Matters

Another Word of Warning On Propaganda; Critics of Lindbergh Confounded

—By JANE WILLIAMS

THIS column has frequently—and loudly—yelled itself hoarse about propaganda which is deliberately set in motion for ulterior purposes—especially in connection with wars and the causes of wars.

We have said before and we say it again that a war can be started anytime, anyplace with the proper propaganda and the war spirit may be kept at fever heat over a period of years by propaganda which isn't even founded on facts.

After a war is started isn't the time to talk of propaganda; the person who dared to lift his voice against the Bogie Man would be howled down as a traitor. The time to keep your eyes open for it is—well, times such as these.

* * *

A RADIO commentator the other night said it was being "hinted" that the two United States ambassadors who have just come back from Europe to make reports to the president, brought word of the possibility that England may grant Hitler the right to establish an air base in Canada.

If you heard the report did you say to yourself: "Why?" instead of being scared stiff? Did you ask yourself calmly how Canada would feel about such an unbelievable proposition—Canada, which is practically a free, self-governed country? Did you ask yourself who and what might benefit from putting out such a rumor?

Probably not. Probably you were pretty scared and your first thought was: "Maybe we HAD better spend a billion or two for military defense and airplanes!"

Well, anyway, maybe that was what you were supposed to think.

* * *

A HECKLER is running a temperature because in my story this week of Louis Bromfield's new Richland county farm, I used a quote from the author's speech in Washington, but failed to carry all of the speech as it had appeared in Inez Robb's column.

Well, in the first place I didn't take my quote from the Inez Robb story but from an Associated Press wire story. I considered that—with no criticism of the brilliant Miss Robb—to be just as authentic a source. And in the second place the entire speech had no bearing whatsoever on my story.

I used the quote from A. P. because I thought it was awfully funny—"I—a poor author—walked into a bank and borrowed $84,000." The "poor author" probably has an income that ranges between $50,000 and $100,000 a year.

And "I found less evidence of poverty and discontent than ever before" was funnier yet. Louie, nice lad that he is and tickled pink to be home, couldn't expect to see much poverty and discontent from his swanky station wagon. Sometime I'll take him to a Mansfield home where nine kids live in one room with no floor in the house and where five people sleep in one bed. It isn't an "exceptional case" either.

* * *

MEDICAL men of Kansas City were tremendously interested this week when they were hastily informed that a "peculiar case" had been entered at the General hospital there. The patient, they were told, was a royal purple all over. Not just black and-blue but a very definite purple, from the crown of his head to his toes.

But medical science lost all interest when the man's sister explained that he had been drinking heavily for days and she had locked him in the bathroom while she left the house for an hour or so. When she returned she found that he had drunk bay rum, a liquid shampoo, witch hazel, perfume, gardenia cologne, rubbing alcohol, hair oil, black hair dye and had topped it off with 100 aspirin tablets.

But medical science triumphed in the end, for after a session with the stomach pump, he faded down to a pale primrose lavender.

* * *

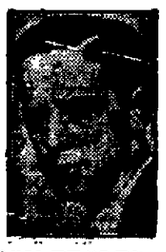

THERE may be a lot of red faces among the Lindbergh critics, for it is being hinted that Lindbergh's trip to Soviet Russia and his friendliness with German officials was for the secret purpose of gathering information for his own government, and that his report has already been made to the president and war department officials.

While the government refuses to confirm or deny the report, Lindbergh is being retained on the national advisory board of aeronautics.

If Lindbergh is giving such valuable service to his country in the face of the contumely that has been heaped upon him and his wife by his fellow Americans, he is of much finer calibre than his critics.

FAIR ENOUGH!

An Essay That Is Clear as Mud About Economic Fields and Situations

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I have given deep study to many books, papers and speeches by leading economists of the New Deal on the gradual reflation of quantitative reserves to combine deficit financing and collective bargaining with the liquidation of human rights. The corollary seems to be the social conscription of agriculture.

Mr. Eccles, Mr. Thurman Arnold, Mr. Leon Henderson and, at times, Father Coughlin and Dr. Townsend have seemed to me to be in agreement on this radical proposal.

* * *

If I interpret them aright—and I sometimes doubt that I fully understand them in some particulars—this position marks a dangerous departure from the traditional capitalistic concept of social and industrial transition. Property rights inevitably abdicate to political commitments of imponderable force which everywhere conflict with tax relief and liberty of conscience.

Mr. Eccles, be it said, appears to favor the middle way, while Mr. Arnold's position seems to me to place him a little to the left of totalitarian wage-levelism in the subnormal areas of intellectual orientation. That is my understanding.

So much for that, and I may say that I find myself in partial agreement up to the point where this theory defies the fundamental standpoint of economic tyranny in the intermittent cycles of politico-Corporate finance. I have to dissent there, holding that the experience of the last half-century provides ample proof and warning that a simplified control of constitutional alignments is no guarantee of non-productive bimetallism. There is no proved formula in all economic knowledge for the absolute implementation of compulsory expansion and social competition.

Every attempt to violate this elementary absolute of simple economics has produced a profound deterioration in the Federal reserve, where there is always a wise tendency to discount industrial feudalism if accompanied by Democratic guarantees and a fair volume of electoral resources. None but a visionary theorist will argue against the demonstrated realities of a field of abstract solecism conditioned by the fiduciary habits of human dignity.

* * *

Atheism, therefore, need be vitiated only by the simple pressure of international usury, as shown by the bloody ignominies of countless economic adventures from Robespierre in the middle ages down to Giuseppe Avanti, whose economic heresies wrecked the Milanese nobility in the famine of 1790.

Whenever any considerable number of people are caught between greedy dualism and the remorseless limitations of supply and demand you must have social and economic chauvinism, with all the terrors that that dread phase implies.

The master-and-slave equation in commodity consumption cannot be revoked by esoteric appeal to corporate enhancement or resort to artificial repudiation.

As to Mr. Henderson's contention, if I comprehend his warning, it need only be remarked that the underlying view is not essential to an accurate conviction in advance of imperative reforms. To attempt any complete hypothesis of currency values in this apparent paradox, to gamble commodities against the furtive and, I think, fallacious parallel of sound money, is a vicious acceptance of international manipulation and the forerunner of a proletarian oligarchy.

That way lies chaos.

CHURCH SCHOOL WORKERS BEGIN STUDY MONDAY

10-Week Leadership Training Course to Get Under Way At St. John's Church.

Sunday school teachers, superintendents and workers from Mansfield and Richland county churches will gather at 7 p. m. Monday at St. John's Evangelical church for the opening session of the Mansfield Bible Study and Leadership Training school.

The school affords church and Sunday school workers an opportunity to take up Bible study and to study various phases of church work. The school will continue for 10 weeks.

Heading the school faculty will be Rev. Willis E. Ronk, dean of the theological seminary at Ashland college, and pastor of the Park Street Brethren church in Ashland, and Rev. H. W. Peterson, superintendent of the Mansfield district of Methodist churches.

Five On Faculty.

Rev. Ronk will conduct a course on "Old Testament History and Bible Truths." He is known as a keen student of the Bible and conducted the same course at Ashland last year.

Other members of the faculty are Mrs. Howard Miller, Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church, Miss Ruth West, young people's worker at the First Congregational church.

Registrations for those not already listed will be held at 7 p. m., followed at 7:15 with the first class period. An assembly is scheduled for 8:15., followed at 8:30 with the second class period. Sessions will be held each Monday night.

TRAIN SPEEDS CHAMBERLAIN BACK TO LONDON

Prime Minister Preparing To Report To Cabinet On Talks With Mussolini.

By WEBB MILLER
(Copyright 1939 by United Press)

ROME—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain left by train for London today, to report to the British cabinet and parliament on his conversations with Premier Benito Mussolini.

Mussolini saw him and his colleagues off. Viscount Halifax, the British foreign secretary, had left four hours previously for Geneva—to acquaint Foreign Minister Georges Bonnett of France with all details of the conference.

As the British ministers speed through Italy on their way home, I am able to confirm that no new agreements were entered into and that the conversations took the form of each party stating his viewpoint, without inviting comment on it.

Duce Sticks To Stand.

Mussolini repeated his intention of standing by the terms of the Anglo-Italian agreement and repeated his intentions of abiding by the terms of the Spanish non-intervention plan "if it was accepted by others," but refrained from offering—nor was he asked—to use his influence to compel the Nationalists to accept the terms of the non-intervention agreement.

Mussolini did not go into what his son-in-law and foreign minister, Galeazzo Ciano, previously had called "Italy's natural aspirations" in the Mediterranean.

I understand on reliable authority that the British delegation felt that Mussolini had refrained from making and request which might have proved embarrassing.

British delegates were impressed by Mussolini's statement that he would pursue a policy of peace in international affairs—a policy which, he said, was required by Italy to develop her resources and possessions.

I learned that Chamberlain received the definite impression from his conversations that Mussolini really did desire peace in Europe.

Mussolini made no specific mention of the possibility of withdrawing his troops from the Spanish civil war, except in connection with the non-intervention plan if it ever "went into effect" or at the end of the war if the Nationalists were victorious.

I received the impression that the British never had any real expectation that Mussolini would withdraw his troops during the present Nationalist offensive.

The question of Jewish refugees was discussed.

There was no discussion of Anglo-Italian financial co-operation nor was there any mention of a future British-French-Italian or British-French-Italian-German conference.

There was an interchange of views regarding disarmament, without any definite outcome.

It was made clear in authoritative quarters that the Spanish question was the principal difficulty at the moment and that it hindered leaders from going into other matters which might have arisen otherwise.

'LIFE' IS TOPIC

Lesson-Sermon to Be Read Sunday at Scientist Church.

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the following from the Bible: "And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on . . . The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment" (Luke 12:22,23).

Drive carefully tomorrow—there'd be few accidents if everybody did.

Rather strange that taxpayers haven't thought to start themselves a pension plan.

After two holidays and an inauguration, next Monday will resume being just a day in the week.

Giving Religion First Place

RELIGIOUS freedom is one of the things so much taken for granted in the United States that its blessing is seldom given serious thought.

There is an inclination, among many people, to treat religion lightly—except in times of stress, when they almost invariably turn to a higher power for guidance and help.

It is interesting to note how the claims of religion are being asserted again, after an interval of cynicism. President Roosevelt placed it first in his recent address to Congress, as more important even than democracy and good faith among nations, and the source of those virtues. John D. Rockefeller is strongly insisting that religion likewise should stand first in American exhibits at the New York World's fair.

"The world today is not so much in need of skill as of character," he explains. "We do not lack ability so much as we lack purpose. Our capacity to achieve in public life and private life tends to outrun our ethical impulses. Let us make this World's fair an exponent of a way of life which is intellectually alert, which is emotionally sensitive and spiritually vigorous."

He considers it fitting to have a fine Temple of Religion at the fair because "this country was founded on religion. Every day we are hearing of the efforts made to banish religion from other countries, and of the ghastly train of events following in the wake of these efforts. Religion is the only foundation upon which liberty and democracy can be maintained."

There is a scriptural text for it, too: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."

Hopeless Task of Nazi Bunds.

MUCH has been heard in recent months about "bund" organizations in the United States—groups of Nazi sympathizers and propagandists intent on promoting the cause of Hitlerism in this country.

Efforts being made to organize local "bunds" in other Ohio cities provide grounds for belief that Mansfield will probably be included later in activities along this line, under encouragement of the fact that a considerable percentage of the present population of this city is of German descent.

There is little likelihood, however, that even a small percentage of the sound-thinking citizenship of this city and environs will be attracted by the bund preachment that the United States in reality belongs to Germany and should be considered as a part of the Hitler territorial expansion plans.

Almost a hundred years ago a large number of immigrants came to the United States from Germany, in the hope of bettering their condition. A number of these settled in this section of Ohio, some in Mansfield or immediate vicinity. In the main, they became good citizens and good Americans. Their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren have come along to merit respect and confidence, with their Americanism unchallenged.

It is people such as this to which Nazi zealots hope to make appeal in the fantastic scheme to "reclaim" this country for Germany. How mistaken they are in their estimate of Americans whose ancestors came from old Germany!

To Arise—or Remain Seated?

MANSFIELD picture show audiences have apparently decided against arising and standing at attention during the display of a short patriotic film in which a waving flag is accompanied by music of the Star Spangled Banner.

Audiences in different cities have been responding in various ways to this patriotic theme as it is being carried to the screen and the matter of standing or remaining seated during the showing of the flag and rendition of the national anthem appears to be largely for individual decision.

The Flag Code provides that all persons present should stand at attention and salute "during the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in a parade or in review," but this does not cover the point involved in exhibition of the picture of the flag or rendition of the national anthem as a part of an entertainment program.

Recollection of the period of America's entry and participation in the World war leads to belief that at that time Mansfield audiences would have enthusiastically applauded appearance of the flag and would have spontaneously arisen while the Star Spangled Banner was being played.

It sometimes seems that too many people put their patriotism in cold storage between wars.

Too Many Perfect Bridge Hands.

YESTERDAY'S item from South Bend, Ind., which told of a bridge game in which each of four players was dealt all thirteen cards in the several suits, is one of those things in which a grain of salt is advised.

When the improbability of even one player getting all thirteen cards of a suit is considered, the chance of this carrying through to all four players is too remote to be seriously considered, except as a trick of dealing.

It at least classes as something that would have to be seen to be believed—even when the occurrence is reported from the shadows of confidence-inspiring Notre Dame university.

Young John Roosevelt, who started to work in a Boston department store basement, is now up to the fifth floor—and with those Roosevelt boys the roof's the limit.

Among things hard to explain to the children is the destruction of a church by a fire that started in a whisky still next door.

Advice by Robert Quillen: "You needn't advertise for lost relatives. Just tell a reporter you had one of the right lottery tickets."

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Congress was barely in its seat this session when it was startled by one of the most amazing slips of years—the accidental, premature publication of the navy's plan for extending its fortified zone right up to the Japanese door step.

For a foreign spy to have gathered this advance information on what the navy hopes to do in the the Pacific and around the Canal Zone would have assured him at least a stiff raise in pay. Now the whole thing can be had for perhaps a dime—the price isn't set yet—from the government printing office.

The report told of the navy's hopes for building 25 new bases for planes, submarines, destroyers and mines over a zone that encompassed half the Pacific ocean and all of the Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico.

It told of the number of airplanes and men advisable for each station and listed the projects according to the urgency of their need. Outstanding on the list was fortification of the island of Guam. This little island is 1,200 miles from Japan and in fact right in the heart of several islands mandated to Japan after the World war.

* * *

Deep, Dark Secret.

ORDINARILY such projects are kept hidden in secret files and only communicated even to congress on demand.

This report was compiled especially for congress as requested in the billion dollar naval bill of last session.

During the summer a thorough study of need was made, submitted by Admiral Hepburn, chairman of the board, to Secretary Swanson of the navy, and by him relayed to the president.

From him it came to the desk of Speaker Bankhead about 10 days before the session opened. There it lay awaiting convening of congress, when the house naval affairs committee was to study it.

It was marked "confidential" with a red naval seal. But the letter of transmittal accompanying the report was tightly affixed to the cover page, completely hiding the "confidential" seal. A few reporters knew of the existence of the report, and an Associated Press reporter, Reg Ingraham, kept it foremost in mind.

The second day of congress he checked on it and learned that it had been routinely transmitted to the bill clerk to be made public at once. The "confidential" seal had remained hidden.

* * *

Three-Hour Beat.

ONCE up in the bill clerk's possession it was public property open to newspapermen. The seal was not discovered until hours later, although likely it would have been ignored on a document in the bill room in the belief the thing had been officially waived. Ingraham spent nearly an hour divesting the detailed report and scored a three-hour beat on the story, a neat trick in this city.

In time the navy department tried to withdraw the report, but the stories already were widely printed. Japanese and German correspondents were eager students of the thing.

The navy department ultimately concluded that nothing could be done about it, and that no great harm had been done anyway, and perhaps some good. It at least showed foreign powers that the U. S. had more aces to play. It could not have been kept secret indefinitely, since congress would have had to know about it before the money could be made available.

Danger Seen In Armament Racing

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Key Pittman of Nevada is a first-class echo of President Roosevelt on the question of Uncle Sam's overseas policies. As chairman of the upper congressional chamber's foreign relations committee he is an appropriate echo. He likewise is a faithful one. The president, in the course of his recent initial message to the lawmakers, at their current session on Capitol Hill, scarcely had finished remarking that "war is not the only means of commanding a decent respect for the opinions of mankind" ere Pittman was calling for economic sanctions against aggressor nations.

(The definition of sanctions, as the Nevada solon used the term, is punishments.)

"Why shoot a man," added the senator, "when you can starve him to death?"

Of course the weakness in this reasoning is that the starving man, if he has a gun of his own, may employ it pretty lethally before succumbing to the starvation treatment.

The president, however, took that aspect of the matter into account in asking congress for the biggest Yankee armament build-up in the country's peace-time history. If we're going to punish tough nationalities, naturally we need to be loaded for bear in case they turn rambunctious. It's all very well to contend that they are oceans distant from us and cannot get here. Nevertheless Japan, for instance, could make us a good bit of trouble in the western Pacific. It also is of record that Germany played considerable havoc with our eastern Atlantic shipping early in the World war.

F. D., then, is quite right in arguing that, provided we're about to engage in the sanctions business, it behooves us to stock up on shooting irons and ammunitions.

Armament Racing Is Ticklish.

Armament racing undoubtedly is dangerous.

A people with a strong military establishment are tempted to do something with it. That is human nature. Hostilities promise promotion to professional fighters. They also promise profits to lots of non-combatants, and high wages to labor. Oh, yes, there's a deal of talk about heading off extortion in advance, but talk probably is all it amounts to. Folks think so, anyway.

They are not all wrong, either. It is a commonplace that old men start all the wars—because they are not the ones who fight them.

On top of all that it seems a shame to create a huge navy, army and air force, only to go to waste for lack of employment.

There is another consideration: A couple of countries, say, get to competing with each other armamentally. The cost, on each side, is terrible. A point is reached where it looks as if it would be cheaper for the rivals to scrap it out and get the strain over with. The World war started largely that way; Europe could not stand preparedness any longer.

But as to Pacifism?

Yet suppose a country, recognizing the wickedness and inhumanity and miscellaneous undesirability of war, refuses to prepare for it?

Why, that country is dead certain to be involved in war; it is such easy picking. China is the classic example. The Chinese always regarded soldiering with contempt, as so idiotic. Now look at them!

To borrow a profane expression—which fits, though:

"You're damned if you do, and damned if you don't."

That is to say, if a country prepares for war, it invites it; it similarly invites war if it doesn't prepare for it.

What Price Personality?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE wants "a dynamic personality." "Like yours, Miss Robinson." And can I tell how to get it?

That's a mouthful, little lady. Three mouthfuls, in fact. But since several billion people are agitated by the same desire, I shall do my darndest to give you and the other agonizers a few, crude notions on the subject.

First off, comrades, you'd better revise your idea of Personality. It isn't something you can learn from a book or copy from a pattern or develop by a set of exercises. In short, it isn't something you GET but something you ARE.

Take me, for example. It is readily apparent that you visualize me as one of these Buoyant Babies who go around radiating Power 'n' Pep, Optimism 'n' Good Will. Nothing—I weep to say—could be further from the truth.

The simple fact is I'm none of these things. Not, at least, for more than three minutes at a time. Never once, in my abundant years, have I found myself next morning where I left myself last night. Speaking psychologically, of course, and without moral implications. Or, at most, just a few. Here and there. Now and then.

Having settled THAT, we will now return to the other delightful attributes which are supposed to place me in the Wonder Woman class. And we might's well make the survey short 'n' snappy. The plain truth is—I lack every essential and violate every rule prescribed for the Personality Seeker. And yet I admit lil Elsie DOES get along. And quite nicely, everything considered. But how? AH, THERE'S THE SECRET. How does a person who frankly admits that she hasn't the personality of a sand flea still manage to swing quite a honey of a wallop and keep her nose in quite a number of pies?

Is there a reason . . . a good, practical reason that would apply to similarly constituted critters? There is. And it's this—

I AM MYSELF. I NEVER PRETEND TO BE ANYTHING ELSE. AND I DON'T GIVE A HOOT WHAT ANYONE THINKS ABOUT IT.

I don't copy anyone . . . or envy anyone . . . or fear anyone . . . or try to put on any act. I simply behave as I decide to behave with the material I have on hand.

Which doesn't sound like a very remarkable method, does it? Yet it is. Actually, it is the most powerful and irresistible influence on earth. Why?

BECAUSE THERE IS NO FEAR IN IT . . . AND OF ALL HUMAN ATTRIBUTES, THE AVERAGE FRIGHTENED, MUDDLED MORTAL MOST ADMIRES AND DESIRES FEARLESSNESS.

We may, at times, be attracted by beauty and wisdom, shrewdness and charm . . . but, in the long run, IT'S COURAGE THAT GETS OUR UNANIMOUS VOTE . . . AND THE WARM SENSE OF CERTAINTY WHICH COURAGE RADIATES.

Why does a "dynamic personality" grit us so? Because it gives us that sense of certainty. The men (or woman) behind it may not be really brave. He may, in fact, be all kinds of a scallywag. But he has the power—temporarily, at least—to release us from our fear and self-contempt. Within the charmed circle of his influence, we, too, take on heroic dash and dimensions . . . we, too, are brave enough to sass a cop or tweak a bulldog's tail!

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

THE world's seven top powers, according to official and unofficial estimates, spent an average of $27 per capita for machine-guns, warships, bombing planes, etc., last year:

Russia	$5,400,000,000
Germany	4,400,000,000
Japan	1,755,000,000
Britain	1,693,300,000
France	1,092,100,000
The U. S.	1,065,700,000
Italy	526,000,000
Total	$15,932,100,000

All except Japan, who apparently hopes to win the war in China and then trim arms expenditures, plan to spend still more on their armies, navies and airforces in 1939.

The U. S., for instance, will boost its national defense budget for the 1939-40 fiscal year by about $300,000,000 if congress follows the advice offered by President Roosevelt. And much of the increase, if Mr. Roosevelt has his way, will go for more and mightier warplanes.

Congressional study of the president's defense program began this week with a joint secret meeting of the house and senate military affairs committees to hear about the situation in Europe from the U. S. ambassadors to London and Paris. One congressman summed up their testimony thus: "World war may start in the spring."

Relief Reaction.

Other congressional headlines of the week described Capitol Hill's reaction to the President's request of last week-end, for $875,000,000 to finance WPA until mid-year, when the 1939-40 relief appropriation (FDR wants $1,500,000,000 more then) becomes available.

The house appropriations committee lopped $150,000,000 off Mr. Roosevelt's figure—on the grounds that WPA carries "thousands not rightfully or justifiably thereon"—and recommended that the relief bill be so worded as to cancel a presidential order blanketing 31,000 WPA officials into civil service on Feb. 1.

And when the bill comes up in the senate, perhaps this coming week, some Democrats are expected to join with Republicans in an attempt to limit the administration's freedom to decide how much WPA money shall go to each state.

At Home

Roosevelt's Recipe.

Democrats, trying to eat their party out of the red, paid much too much for their food at dinners held in every state except Maryland last week-end on the 123rd anniversary of Andrew Jackson's victory over the British at New Orleans.

Prices ranged up to $100 a plate for filet mignon and fixin's in the capital's Mayflower hotel, and speakers ranged up to President Roosevelt, whose address to the Washington diners was broadcast to the others:

Said he:

"If there are nominal Democrats who as a matter of principle are convinced that our party should be a conservative party—a Democratic tweedledum to a Republican tweedledee—it is on the whole better that the issue be drawn within the party, that the fight be fought out, and that if the tweedledums are defeated they join the tweedledees."

* * *

Farm Army.

Landlords must share AAA benefit payments with tenants but not, of course, with hired hands. Result, according to tenant farmers' leaders: A growing movement in the cotton country to abandon share-cropping in favor of the employment of day laborers. In protest, hundreds of evicted Missouri sharecropper families were living along the state's highways this week—hoping the flickering flames of their campfires would attract national attention to their plight.

* * *

Climb Continues.

Businessmen were cheered this week by news that:

1. Packing plant employment and production are at the highest levels since 1934.

2. WPA rolls, for the latest week reported, showed a decline of nearly 200,000 from the all-time peak of 3,262,000 last Nov. 5.

3. Factory and mine outputs, according to Labor Secretary Perkins, increased more than 33 per cent during the second half of 1938.

Grasshopper Feeder.

The postoffice department will open bids next Tuesday for the world's shortest airmail route—six miles, by autogiro, from the Camden, N. J., airport to the roof of the Philadelphia postoffice. If that works out, autogiro services on airport-postoffice feeder lines may be established also at Chicago, Los Angeles, Atlanta, Milwaukee and St. Louis.

People

Freed: Tom Mooney.

Labor unions were frowned upon as "dangerous combinations" and union organizers were labeled "agitators" when, on July 22, 1916, less than a year before America entered the World war, a bomb killed 10 marchers in a San Francisco "preparedness" parade.

Five persons were arrested for murder. One went free without trial. Two were acquitted. Warren K. Billings, a shoe worker, was sentenced to life imprisonment. And Thomas J. Mooney, a labor organizer, was ordered hanged.

Disclaiming responsibility for the bombing, Mooney contended he had been convicted because of his pro-labor activities. President Wilson, in 1918, got his sentence commuted to life imprisonment. Liberalist groups financed further appeals and pardon pleas, filling many volumes of state and federal court records with charges of "perjury." For 20 years, May Day paraders throughout the country chanted: "Free Tom Mooney."

Now, at 56, Tom Mooney's free. Pardoned last weekend by California's new Democratic Gov. Culbert L. Olson, he said: "I intend to dedicate my life to remove the shame from the state of California by working for the release of my co-sufferer—Warren K. Billings."

Names Make News.

Suave, cosmopolitan Albert N. Chaperau, an ex-convict, hobnobbed with Manhattan and Hollywood celebrities as a "Nicaraguan consular attache." Accused of smuggling, he admitted the facts of the charge but claimed diplomatic immunity. The judge overruled that claim, this week, and convicted him of conspiring with Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of a New York judge, to evade customs duties on $1,833 worth of Paris gowns.

Also indicted were radio funnymen (1) George Burns, who admitted buying $4,885 worth of smuggled jewelry from Chaperau for his wife and partner, Gracie Allen; (2) Jack Benny, who pleaded innocent to charges of smuggling, transporting and concealing two diamond-studded gold clips and a gold bracelet worth $2,100, which authorities said he bought for his wife and partner, Mary Livingston.

QUOTES

Jan Hanzrik, former Czechoslovak minister to London: "The Spanish influenza started in Spain, but it traveled 'round the world. Ethical" diseases travel even faster."

Harry Hopkins admitting he made a mistake in making political speeches in the last campaign but retracting nothing: "If I had to go down the road again, I would not make these political speeches."

Abroad

Twin Triumphs.

On fronts 375 miles apart, each side in Spain's civil war attempted this week to split the other's territory. In the northeast, Gen. Franco's Insurgents bore down on Tarragona, on the Mediterranean between Valencia and Barcelona. Southwest of Madrid, Gen. Jose Miaja's Loyalists pushed toward the Portuguese border. The Insurgents had been driving steadily forward since Christmas. The new Loyalist offensive was launched last week-end in an attempt to weaken Franco's northern campaign.

* * *

Border Brawls.

Fish-shaped Czechoslovakia was scaled down last fall from 54,196 square miles to 38,031; (1) The Munich conference scrapped 10,885 square miles from around the fish's head and gave them to Germany; (2) Poland, while the getting was good, gouged a 405-square-mile hunk out of its back; (3) the German and Italian foreign ministers, meeting at Vienna on Nov. 2, trimmed 4,875 square miles off its belly for Hungary.

Most residents of Hungary's slice are Hungarians, but there are resentful minorities of Slovaks and Ukrainians. Result: Czech-Hungarian border clashes almost weekly during the last two months—including one last weekend in which Hungarians said nearly 50 were killed on both sides in a fight that started when Czech artillery shelled a city on Hungary's side of the new border.

The fighting continued this week, and both sides filed diplomatic protests. But it was hard to tell which was to blame, because the international boundary commission that's working out details of the Vienna award hasn't completed its official map of the revised frontier.

Record Hop.

As the U. S. navy gathered in the Caribbean for its annual war games, 48 of its huge patrol bombers left San Diego Tuesday on a 3,000 mile flight to the Panama Canal Zone. The bombers followed the west coast line to Nicaragua's jungles, then crossed over to arrive at Coco Solo, C. Z., 26 hours later. All but three made the hop non-stop. Eighteen amphibians left on a stop-over flight the same day. The combined venture made the greatest long-distance mass flight in U. S. naval history.

In Short

Pleaded guilty: Three brothers of the late Donald F. Coster-Musica, to charges of violating the federal securities act.

Ousted: Homer Martin, president of CIO's United Auto Workers, as editor of the union's weekly newspaper, by UAW's executive board.

Transferred: Al Capone, ex-Chicago gangster, from Alcatraz Island prison to the federal correctional institution on Terminal Island, San Pedro.

Sentenced: Martin (Col. Gimp) Snyder, ex-husband of songstress Ruth Etting, to "not more than 20 years" in a California prison, for attempting to murder her new husband, Myrl Alderman.

Married: Wayne Morris, movie actor, and Leonora Schinasi, tobacco heiress.

Died: Walter C. Kelly, veteran actor; Dr. Charles E. Miller, preacher and educator; Mrs. Charles M. Schwab, wife of the steel magnate.
